

Council Sets Hearing On Move To Junk Northeast Radial

By LYNN ZERSCHLING
Star Staff Writer

City lawmakers will have an opportunity to kill the Northeast Radial — the much debated, multi-million dollar freeway — on March 25.

It is on that date that the council will hold a public hearing on a resolution to junk the project. That action was called for Monday by Councilman Max Denney in a surprise move.

Denney maintained now is the time for the council to reach a decision on the roadway, which is celebrating its 30th birthday this year.

The vote to hold the public hearing at the night council meeting was 4-2.

Council members Sue Bailey, Helen Boosalis, Denney and Bob Sikyta voted yes, while Dick Baker and Steve Cook voted no. Councilman John Robinson was absent.

Both Cook and Baker maintained that any decision on the radial would be premature until the update of the Metropolitan Area Transportation Study is completed.

Although pointing out he did not favor construction of the diagonal which would arc from Northeast Lincoln downtown, Cook said the council could not "accomplish anything" by jumping ahead of the study.

But Bailey contended, "For some of us the Northeast Radial isn't totally a transportation issue."

And for that reason she said she is willing to rule on the project without the benefit of the study's data.

Denney contended that the project's present limbo status is not fair to property owners living in the radial's path who can neither rebuild their homes nor sell to anyone but the city.

But since April 16, 1973, no such purchases have been authorized by the City Council. It was on that date that the council impounded funds for all further land acquisition.

Before then some $3.4 million had been spent on picking up properties along the roadway's path.

Denney asked City Atty. Dick Wood to prepare a report on possible public uses for the land already owned by the city and guidelines the city would need to follow in disposing of the property. Wood said he could submit a legal opinion outlining alternatives.

The council's action signaling its intent to dispose of the radial question once and for all did not meet with the favor of Public Works Director Bob Obering.

Obering urged the lawmakers to delay any decision until the "proper planning processes occur."

Those processes, he said, involve at least three hearings on the update of the transportation study. One of those hearings was held last summer.

Obering urged the council to instead "get on with the Comprehensive Plan." The city is negotiating a contract with Barton-Aschman Associates of Chicago to do the update, which would take 18 months. The transportation study will be a component of the Comprehensive Plan.

Even if the lawmakers deal a mortal blow to the project, Obering questioned "What if we still have a need for transportation out there?"

Boosalis interjected, "What Max (Denney) is saying is that no matter what needs are shown, they're other needs than just transportation."

She said there is "no doubt" that last May's council election in which three new lawmakers were seated, indicated the public's discontent over the project.

By killing the project now, Obering pointed out that the council would be eliminating one of the alternatives considered in the study for bringing Havelock travelers downtown.

Said Baker, "If there are alternatives, I'd like to see those before we kill this. We've waited this long, we can wait a little longer for the study."

Boosalis said, however, that if the majority of the council opts to ditch the radial now, "We'd be putting a halt to this (project) regardless of the alternatives."

Wilson Named Prime Minister

Premier Withdraws Resignation. . .

Israel's Golda Meir Changes Her Mind

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Golda Meir withdrew her resignation Monday and will try to form a new government for Israel in the next two days, President Ephraim Katzir announced.

Mrs. Meir, who had announced Sunday she would not head the next government, agreed to continue political bargaining and try to form a government by a deadline set for midnight Wednesday, Katzir said.

"Mrs. Meir informed me to my delight that she will carry on her efforts," Katzir announced to newsmen just about 24 hours after the 75-year-old premier told her Labor alliance she would not head the next government.

Labor party sources said earlier that Mrs. Meir had agreed to stay on as leader of Israel's next government after colleagues pleaded with her to remain in power.

She twice postponed scheduled calls on Katzir to meet with Cabinet ministers and executives of her Labor party. She made no statement or appearance after advising Katzir of her decision.

"I wish her success," Katzir said in a brief statement at his presidential residence in Jerusalem.

Mrs. Meir, 75 and suffering since the start of the year from shingles, a nervous disorder, announced her resignation after some key factions of the Labor alliance rejected her list of Cabinet nominees.

The list contained six new faces, including that of Yitzhak Rabin, a former chief of staff and ambassador to Washington, to serve as defense minister in place of Moshe Dayan.

Dayan's refusal to take part in the next Cabinet, in reaction to party censure of his handling of the October war, was one of the factors which prompted her to announce she was telling Katzir she was stepping down.

Aides said Mrs. Meir postponed her visit to the president's residence to allow Labor party colleagues time to convince dissident party factions, primarily backers of Dayan, to support her proposed cabinet list.

Conservative Heath Resigns

. . . Labor In Minority

LONDON (AP) — Conservative Edward Heath resigned Monday after 44 months as prime minister and his arch rival, Laborite Harold Wilson, took over the task of trying to form a new, minority government.

A terse Buckingham Palace statement announced Wilson's appointment as prime minister. He previously headed the British government from 1964 until Heath's Conservatives defeated Labor in the 1970 general elections.

The change of government became effective from the moment Wilson kissed Queen Elizabeth's hand in the private audience room on the first floor of the palace. His wife Mary waited in a room nearby.

The Wilsons drove from the residence of Britain's prime ministers. Only two hours earlier Heath had left to tender his resignation to the queen.

"We've got a job to do," the pipe-smoking Wilson told a crowd of well-wishers. "We can only do that job as one people. I'm going to do that job now."

Moving men were taking Heath's personal possessions out the back door of the prime minister's residence. The Wilsons planned to move in Tuesday.

Three days earlier Wilson's Laborites narrowly defeated the Conservatives in national elections. They took more seats in the House of Commons than the Conservatives — 301 to 296 — but neither won enough for a majority in the 635-seat House.

For three days Heath sought to form a coalition government, but he finally had to relinquish the government when Jeremy Thorpe's Liberals, with 14 seats, refused his offer.

It was the third time Wilson led his Laborites to victory in national elections. He was elected leader of the party in 1963, and one year later Labor won a slender five-seat majority in the House.

Wilson called new elections in 1966 and increased the margin to 100 seats, but in 1970 he lost to Heath in what was regarded as a major upset.

The top priority for Wilson's government will be the coal miners' strike menacing Britain's economy. The reason Heath called elections in the first place had been to win a mandate to handle the strike, which forced him to place the country on a three-day work week.

Heath pledged that "the new government can be assured of my support in whatever realistic measures it takes in the interests of all the people."

The next task before the new government will be to seek massive loans abroad to offset a trade deficit running at an annual rate of $10 billion. Even before the election, the British treasury said the government would have to find more than $6.9 billion to cover the deficit and to meet the higher cost of oil.

The result of one of the most hectic political episodes in Britain's postwar history was almost anticlimactic. The disgruntled voters gave neither party a mandate, and left the deciding parliamentary votes in the hands of 14 Liberals and 24 nationalists and independents.

Thorpe's Liberals fought the election campaign on the basis of giving a third choice from the two major parties. But when offered a share of government, the party leaders apparently decided that an alliance with either the Conservatives or the Laborites would compromise them in the eyes of their backers.

Party insiders said the Liberal leaders made two points at Monday's meeting. The first was that joining a coalition with Heath would do little to help Britain's troubles because national divisions would remain even if the Tories modified some of their more controversial policies.

Secondly, they felt that the country's real need was a government of national unity including both Conservatives and Laborites in a grand alliance. But neither Heath nor Wilson showed the slightest interest in the idea.

Rock Shelf Found; Garage Plans Held

The State Building Commission Monday postponed final approval of designs for the State Office Building's parking garages pending an analysis of a sandstone formation found roughly 24 feet below the surface grade, of one of the garage sites.

George Miller, project manager, said a soil test indicates, "We may have a problem with the sandstone and the cost of removing it."

If the cost proves excessive, Miller said the garage will have to be redesigned.

The south parking garage, located on L Street between 14th and 15th Streets, is now designed as a six-level structure, three above ground and three below.

The three floors underground would have to go roughly 25 feet below the surface grade and require removal of between two and five feet of rock. The decision on whether to redesign the garage will be made in two weeks when it is known how much removal will cost, Miller said.

"So far we think it can be ripped off," he said. "We don't want to blast it out."

Miller said the sandstone will not affect construction of the State Office Building directly north of the garage or plans for the second garage located northeast of it. The sandstone shelf drops off rapidly, Miller said, from about 20 feet below the surface on the south end of the construction site to 50 feet beneath on the north end.

The delay on the garage drawings will not throw the entire project off schedule, an architect for Henningson, Durham & Richardson told the commission. Little work will be required to re-draft the garage plans.

The entire project is still on schedule and within the $20 million available for construction, he said.

The commission did approve final drawings for the office building itself. The architects hope to put out for construction bids in late June or early July.

Judiciary Unit Sets Prison Fund Fight

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Dissatisfied with Appropriations Committee recommendations, the Legislature's Judiciary Committee Monday decided to seek $500,000 in immediate funding to draw plans for a new $7.4 million medium-minimum security prison.

The appropriations unit will recommend only a $50,000 item to draw a program statement for future construction of correctional institutions.

That, Sen. Richard Fellman of Omaha said, represents "the worst kind of bureaucratic doubletalk" and would only delay construction of prison facilities.

At one point, Fellman questioned whether the $50,000 appropriation amounted to "a double cross" of earlier Appropriations Committee pledges to support penal reform efforts.

"Nothing's going to happen" if the Legislature accepts the $50,000 recommendation, Fellman said. The only result would be "another piece of paper."

Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said he wants the current session of the Legislature to agree to "a definite program" for prison construction.

"My personal feeling is that their (the appropriations) committee is not committed to building a medium-minimum security prison," he said.

The $500,000 figure had been agreed to by the Judiciary Committee and by Gov. J. James Exon in an effort to draw immediate plans for financing the prison over a three-year period.

Exon included the $500,000 in his capital construction budget recommendations.

The prison would replace the Men's Reformatory in Lincoln.

Legislative opinion is divided over whether the new facility should be constructed in Lincoln or Omaha.

The Judiciary Committee agreed to attempt to amend the $50,000 figure to $500,000 when the capital construction appropriations bill is discussed on the floor.

At the same time, the committee will include a definite program for phased construction of the prison, new housing facilities at the Penitentiary and a diagnostic and evaluation complex in a correctional reform bill which it is ready to send to the floor.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff warned the committee that it may have to accept the $50,000 item since "senators are getting more scared day by day" as they face interlocking budget and tax decisions.

"At least, it would get the foot in the door," Carpenter said. "Once we start it, somebody's got to finish it."

The phased construction plan would include $7.4 million for the prison, $5 million for Penitentiary improvements and $1.8 million for the diagnostic and evaluation center. Appropriations would be phased through 1977-78.

The Appropriations Committee has recommended a 1974-75 item of $250,000 to draw plans for the diagnostic and evaluation complex.

Construction funds would be appropriated in the following year after a Lincoln Regional Center remodeling project is completed.

The $750,000 remodeling project would provide facilities to house patients currently being housed in the Lincoln Regional Center structure which will be remodeled for the evaluation complex.

Senate Nixes Pay Hike Proposals

Washington (AP) — The Senate rejected two proposals Monday for salvaging in part pay increases budgeted by President Nixon for members of Congress and other top government officials.

The voting indicated that the Senate will kill the whole, three-step salary boosts under which congressional pay would climb from $42,500 to $52,800 a year.

Rejected first, 71-17, was a proposal of Sen. Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, to delay the start of the pay raises until next year but not to reduce the overall amount.

(Nebraska's Republican Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska both voted on the winning side.)

The Senate then defeated, 62-26, a proposal of Sen. Gale McGee, R-Wyo., providing only for a 5.5% salary increase this year.

(Curtis and Hruska again voted on the winning side.)

The President's budget called for 7.5% raises this year and in each of the next two years for members of Congress, federal judges, and top executive branch officials.

The Higher pay scales, under a 1967 law, will take effect automatically at the end of the week unless disapproved by either the Senate or the House.

A resolution of disapproval, sponsored by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Peter Dominick, R-Colo., is before the Senate, but no time was set for voting on it.

Fong said the reasons for opposing the final pay raises since 1969 for members of Congress, top executive branch officials and federal judges "are more political than logical."

Fong said his proposal to delay putting the raises into effect until Jan. 1, 1975, was made only because "I have accepted the reality" that the Senate won't approve them this year.

"This will avoid any possible embarrassment for those members of Congress who are up for re-election this coming November," he said.

McGee said he recognized that a pay raise is a sensitive issue for colleagues up for re-election this year.

Man Held In Shooting Of Ex-Wife

Police said a 30-year-old Lincoln woman was shot and killed Monday night in her trailer home at 4020 N. 48th, Lot 22.

Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas said the victim, Mary E. Svitak, a State Welfare Dept. employee, "was shot with a .22-caliber rifle."

Douglas said police were holding the woman's ex-husband, Leonard J. Svitak, 35, for questioning in connection with the slaying.

Douglas said Svitak, of 3130 Orchard, is unemployed.

Auto Insurance Freeze Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council ended its freeze on auto insurance rates Monday, apparently taking the view that rates will increase despite a reduction in traffic accidents because of the gasoline shortage.

The council cited a report by a auto insurance industry advisory committee that inflation "inevitably will force automobile insurance claim costs up at an ever greater rate" than in the past.

But council deputy director James W. McLane said any future insurance rate increases must give "due consideration" to the effect of the energy crisis on insurance claim frequency.

However, it did not lay down any guidelines against which proposed new rate increases would be judged.

The council imposed a 60-day freeze on auto insurance rates on Jan. 17 to allow time for a study of the energy situation on insurance premiums.

New York Times
News Summary

Heath Resigns; Harold Wilson Takes British Reins

(C) New York Times News Service

London — Edward Heath, his Conservative Party defeated last week by Britain's voters, gave up his effort to hold onto power, and Harold Wilson, the Labor Party leader, took over as prime minister. Wilson, who led the nation for six years until 1970, returned in triumph to 10 Downing Street. He had been asked by Queen Elizabeth II to form a new government. His cabinet will be the first in 45 years to lack a majority in the House of Commons. (More on Page 1.)

Golda Meir To Stay On

Jerusalem — Premier Golda Meir reversed herself and agreed — under pressure from her Labor Party colleagues — to try to form a new coalition Labor cabinet by Wednesday. As a result, she is expected to continue as premier and to proceed with her plans to organize a coalition with other parties, nine weeks after the voters deprived her Labor grouping of a parliamentary majority. (More on Page 1.)

Spanish Students, Police Clash

Madrid — University students clashed with the police in Madrid and Barcelona after demonstrating and declaring a strike in protest against the execution last Saturday in Barcelona of Salvador Puig Antich, a 26-year-old Catalan anarchist. Meanwhile, the bishop of Bilbao, the Most Rev. Antonio Anoveros Ataun, was accused by the Spanish government of inciting civil discord and of attacking the country's territorial integrity. The bishop, a champion of the country's Basque minority, has refused to obey a government order to leave the country.

Sweeping Changes Demanded

Addis Ababa — Leaflets dropped over Addis Ababa, Ethiopia's capital, said that some military units would "take action" unless Emperor Haile Selassie made sweeping political, economic and social changes, but it was not immediately clear how large the forces involved were. Meanwhile, the confederation of Ethiopian labor unions discussed plans to call a general strike Thursday.

Sirica Plans Hearing On Report

Washington — A hearing has been set for Wednesday by chief Judge John J. Sirica of the U.S. District Court here to hear arguments "by all interested counsel" on what is to be done with a sealed grand jury reported believed to bear on President

Motion For Mistrial Denied

New York — A defense motion for mistrial by the lawyers for John N. Mitchell and Maurice Stans were denied in U.S. District Court here. The lawyers then used their opening statements to depict the two former Nixon cabinet members as men of high character who had devoted their lives to public service. Mitchell, former attorney general, and Stans, former secretary of commerce, are accused of attempting to impede a federal investigation of Robert Vesco, the fugitive financier, in return from Vesco of a secret $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's re-election campaign. (More on Page 2.)

Sirica Holds Hearing Wednesday On Disposition Of Secret Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica will hold a hearing Wednesday to determine disposition of a secret grand jury report said to deal with President Nixon's role in Watergate.

The judge set the hearing for open court after a meeting requested by James D. St. Clair, Nixon's lawyer in Watergate-related matters.

forwarded to the House Judiciary Committee.

The report, said to be in 50 paragraphs, was handed to the judge along with the Watergate coverup indictments of H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell and four others last Friday. There also was a satchel full of documents.

Sirica told a reporter he spent part of the weekend researching the law for precedents to guide him in his decision.

St. Clair was accompanied to Monday's meeting by White House lawyer Richard Hauser. The special prosecutor's office was represented by Henry S. Ruth, deputy prosecutor, and assistant prosecutors Richard Ben Veniste, Philip Lacovara and Peter Kreindler.

Also in the meeting were John J. Wilson and Frank Strickler, who represent Haldeman and Ehrlichman.

John Doar, special counsel for the Judiciary Committee, declined to comment on Sirica's announcement. The committee has a meeting Tuesday at which the question of attendance at the hearing by Doar will be discussed.

More indictments are expected in the coming days from two other Watergate grand juries.

It was believed that charges growing out of the activities of the White House Special Investigations unit, particularly the foray for psychiatric records of Daniel Ellsberg, would be returned in midweek. Others to follow may be indictments for illegal campaign contributions, political espionage, the 18½ minute tape gap, and possibly more charges in the break-in and coverup.

In his White House briefing, Warren also reaffirmed the President's support for the accuracy of a statement by Haldeman that figured in last week's indictment.

One of the counts against the former White House chief of staff alleged he lied in quoting the President as saying raising $1 million for Watergate defendants would be wrong.

Nixon was asked on Aug. 22 about the Haldeman statement, made before the Senate Watergate Committee, and replied "his statement is accurate."

Inability To Govern Is Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors said Monday the Watergate scandal has created an inability to govern which is responsible for national and urban crises including the energy shortage.

Mayor Roy B. Martin Jr. of Norfolk, Va., said in a keynote address to the conference of the nation's municipal leaders "there never should have been an energy emergency."

Girl Takes Shortcut

Because a bridge she normally takes to go to work in Durango, Colo., was torn down for reconstruction, Kerry Carbaugh, 20, has been fording the Animas River in hip boots twice a day. Without the bridge she had two options: drive two miles to the nearest bridge and two more back to work, which is only two blocks from her home across the river, or buy a pair of hip boots and brave the chilly current. The latter option may be a bit of an inconvenience, she says, but it is definitely more exciting than driving and it saves gasoline.

"All interested counsel may state their views regarding the disposition of the report and recommendation filed last Friday by the 1972 grand jury," Sirica said after meeting with St. Clair, assistant prosecutors and lawyers for H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

White House deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren confirmed St. Clair asked for Monday's meeting and added: "Our position will be made known in open court. I have nothing further to say at this time."

Earlier in the day Warren had said "there is no present intention" on the part of the White House to ask that the grand jury's report be withheld from the House impeachment inquiry.

The judge's reference to the "recommendation" was the first public confirmation that the grand jury had accompanied its report with a suggestion of what should become of it.

There had been published reports that the jury asked it be

Haldeman Says He's Innocent

Los Angeles (UPI) — Former top White House aide H.R. Haldeman declared himself innocent in the Watergate scandals Monday but said it was "obvious some things were wrong."

Speaking out for the first time since he was indicted, Haldeman told a news conference at his home:

"I've done nothing illegal or improper."

Later he added, "I have done nothing wrong, but I will not comment on whether I think others have done something wrong.

"It's obvious some things were wrong. Now it's a question of what wrongs were done and who did them."

Haldeman was tanned and looked rested when he met newsmen in front of his comfortable, Tudor-style house.

"I am absolutely certain the trial will show I am innocent," he said. "I'm not happy to be indicted but I have every confidence in the American judicial system."

Haldeman refused to comment on any details of his indictment, saying, "Judge (John J.) Sirica issued instructions that we cannot comment on the case and I will abide by Judge Sirica's instructions."

He said he had spoken to President Nixon since the indictment, presumably during the weekend, but refused to say what he and the President discussed. He said he was not in a position to comment on or evaluate the case.

Rodino Says Nixon's Had Enough Time To Respond

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee said Monday he thinks President Nixon has had enough time to respond to the committee's request for evidence for its impeachment inquiry.

The committee sent its request to the White House last Monday and Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., said it has not received a reply yet.

Ottawa (AP) — Canada's official reserves grew by $343.8 million during February and virtually all the increase was in holdings of U.S. dollars. The total at Feb. 28 was $6.2 billion.

Steel Output Up

New York (AP) — Domestic steel production for the week ended March 2 rose 0.1% to 2.89 million net tons from 2.88 million net tons a week before, the American Iron and Steel Institute reported.

Supreme Court Rules, 8 To 1 ... Denial Of Vets' Benefits To Objectors Is Proper

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled eight to one Monday that Congress may properly deny veterans education benefits to conscientious objectors who perform civilian service as an alternative to the draft.

There is a rational basis for treating veterans and conscientious objectors differently, the court said, since the aim of the benefit law is to make military service more attractive and to aid in readjustment after the disruptive effects of active duty in the service.

In other action, the court: —Held six to three that cable TV systems do not infringe copyrights when they import distant television signals rather than merely strengthen nearby ones.

—Refused to disturb the conviction of black militant H. Rap Brown on a federal charge of transporting a firearm on an airliner from New York to New Orleans while under indictment. Brown said his rights were compromised by the government's electronic surveillance. He was sentenced to five years and fined $2,000.

—Trimmed the authority of the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Power Commission to levy fees on the industries they regulate.

Writing for the majority in the veterans benefits case, Justice William J. Brennan Jr. said denial of benefits was not invidious discrimination because the Congress acted legitimately to fulfill a rational aim.

Justice William O. Douglas, the lone dissenter, said denial of benefits worked a penalty on those who refused to compromise their religious scruples and thus interfered with the free exercise of religion.

The FCC and FCC cases involved fees levied by the two agencies on the public utilities and gas pipelines industries and the cable television industry respectively.

Writing for the court in both cases, Douglas said the fees closely resemble taxes which can only be levied by Congress. Fees may be collected by a public agency which grants a benefit "not shared by other members of society." But, Douglas continued, the fees are wrongly collected when they are used to defray the cost of protecting the public interest.

The court agreed to review an Illinois judge's threat of contempt proceedings against Chicago delegates at the 1972 Democratic convention.

The Illinois Court of Appeals upheld the authority of the Cook County Circuit Court to issue an injunction prohibiting a slate of George McGovern delegates from taking seats at the convention in favor of the elected slate of delegates of Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The Supreme Court declined to step into the question that summer, throwing it, instead, to the convention itself where the Daley slate was ousted.

After the convention, the Cook County court ordered 62 McGovern delegates to show cause why they should not be held in contempt for taking convention seats.

Voting In 2 Areas May Provide Clue On Sentiment On Watergate

By The Associated Press

Voters in traditionally Republican districts in Ohio and California make their choices Tuesday in special congressional elections that may provide another clue to public sentiment on Watergate.

The races are the third and fourth special congressional elections this year. Democrats won two earlier contests, including one for Vice President Gerald R. Ford's old seat.

The Ohio race is in the 1st Congressional District, an area that has gone Democratic only three times this century. The candidates themselves have generally avoided the Watergate issue.

Two former mayors of Cincinnati, Republican Willis D. Gradison Jr. and Democrat Thomas A. Luken are seeking the seat left vacant by William Keating, who resigned to become president of The Cincinnati Enquirer. Keating, a Republican, was elected with 70 per cent of the vote in 1972 when the district went heavily for President Nixon.

The California race is in the 13th district on the Santa Barbara coast. Eight candidates — seven Democrats and a Republican — are vying for the seat held by the late Rep. Charles Teague, a Republican who was serving his 10th straight term when he died.

In Ohio, Luken, 48, has concentrated on the economy and the energy crisis. He has argued for oil price rollbacks and has said he favors a constitutional amendment to ban abortion.

On the question of impeachment, Luken said Nixon should be impeached if his appointees "are found guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors."

Gradison argued against oil price cutbacks. He said he opposes abortion, but is against "telling other people how to run their own lives." He criticized Nixon's wage-price controls and urged the President to "give the keys to the White House" to the special Watergate prosecutor.

Gradison said Nixon should be impeached if "hard evidence from either the courts or the House Judiciary Committee" shows the President committed serious crimes, withheld evidence from either the courts or the House committee, or was involved in a coverup.

Gradison said that the Watergate grand jury indictments handed down last Friday won't hurt him because voters have expected it for a long time. Luken said he refused to "shoot from the hip" on the indictments because they are not proven charges.

The registration in California's 13th district is Democratic by a slight margin — 48 to 45 per cent. But the Republican, Robert Lagomarsino, 47, a state senator and a Teague associate, is heavily favored. The only real question is whether he can gain a majority and avoid a runoff.

Lagomarsino says Watergate is "not an issue here." But at least one of the Democratic contenders — Ojai Mayor James D. Loeb — said he thinks the voters are "quite fired up on the subject of impeachment."

The chief elections officer for Santa Barbara County, Bob Kirkpatrick, said Monday that the race had stirred little excitement. "I'm surprised how low-key the campaign has been on both sides," he said, forecasting that only 30 to 40 per cent of the registered voters in his county would turn out on Tuesday.

The two Democratic candidates given the best chance of getting into a runoff are Loeb, 46, a lawyer, and Tom Jolicœur, 42, a businessman.

'Red China' Unacceptable For Address

Washington (UPI) — Any package mailed to mainland China must be addressed to the "People's Republic of China" or it will be returned, the U.S. Postal Service warned.

Addresses such as "Red China," "Communist China" or "Mainland China" and abbreviations such as "PRC" are unacceptable, a spokesman said. "If such terms are used, it will result in parcels and letters being returned to the sender."

Denenberg Is Senate Candidate

Herbert Denenberg gained a nationwide reputation as a consumer advocate while he was Pennsylvania state insurance commissioner. Monday, in Pittsburgh, he announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the Senate. After that, his wife Naomi, left, wiped his brow for him.

Survey Reveals Oil Companies Blamed For Crisis Most Often

NEW YORK (AP) — A majority of American families surveyed by a consumer research organization feel the oil companies bear the biggest share of the blame for the energy crisis.

Most families also believe the problem is being exaggerated and they say they are not getting accurate or complete information about the situation, said the survey which was released Monday.

The poll was taken by the Home Testing Institute of Manhasset, N.Y., a market research organization. The institute mailed questionnaires to 500 families of different income levels, ages and regions selected from among 60,000 households on the organization's roster.

Responses were received from 395 families, but not all the families answered every question so the percentages don't add up to 100.

Among key findings: —Almost half the families surveyed said the energy crisis had caused them to change their thinking about vacation plans and 8 per cent said they would simply stay home. Of those planning to travel, most said they would still use the car.

—There has been an increase in the number of people using car pools to get to work, but 74 per cent of the male heads of household and 70 per cent of the working wives still drive to work alone.

The oil companies and the government came in for the most criticism on the energy crisis. Sixty-seven per cent of those responding said the oil companies were "very responsible" for the energy crisis; 26 per cent said they were somewhat responsible; and only 3 per cent said they were not to blame at all.

Fifty-eight per cent of those surveyed said government planners were very responsible for the crisis and 40 per cent said President Nixon was the man to blame. Only 21 per cent of those replying said the Arab governments were very responsible for the energy crunch, although 58 per cent said they must share part of the blame.

God Said Solution

Manhattan, Kan. (AP) — Political scandals and terrorism, and the economic crisis threaten to undermine the American system but the biggest problem is spiritual, evangelist Billy Graham said here. And a solution, the evangelist preacher told Kansas State University students here, is simply God.

Tuesday, March 5, 1974 The Lincoln Star 3 17 Americans Dead In Worst Air Crash

Paris (AP)—Experts were investigating on Monday the possibility that a bomb may have blown up the Turkish jetliner which crashed near Paris in the worst air disaster of all time. At least 17 Americans were listed among the dead.

Officials close to the probe cautioned that the possibility of a bomb was merely "one of several theories." There was also the possibility of an explosion in flight due to a malfunction, one source said.

Technicians were still sifting through the wreckage looking for clues as to what caused the crash of the DC10 Sunday, which killed all 346 persons aboard.

A policeman on the wooded site 23 miles north of Paris found part of one of the plane's two flight recorders, devices which record the functioning of the plane's main units. Another recorder, which copies down all conversation in the cockpit, was still missing.

"With the two recorders we may have a better chance of finding out what happened," said one expert. "For instance, whether the pilot had any advance warning of disaster."

There were reports that guerrillas carrying explosives might have been aboard the plane, but the Turkish government said, "We have no official information on that," and that it was "impossible to know the cause of the crash at this point."

Speculation about a sabotage attempt was prompted by two facts, sources said.

Six bodies were found relatively intact six miles away from the main impact area in a forest. This indicated the bodies were ejected while the aircraft was still aloft, pointing to the possibility of an explosion in flight, they said.

And the main wreckage was so shattered it was likely the jet broke up before it hit the ground, the sources added.

"But this is just one of several working hypotheses," one expert said. "It will be at least a week before we can say anything for sure."

Working against the sabotage theory was the fact that the plane was guarded by armed policemen while it was on the ground at Orly Airport before it took off for London.

The 216 passengers who boarded in Paris were all searched and their hand luggage meticulously inspected, airport officials said.

Maurice Grimaud, secretary-general of the Civil Aviation Department, said in a radio interview the airline had requested protection on the ground last December. "But they did not ask for a baggage inspection and there was none," he added.

Arab Hijackers Queried

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Police questioned on Monday two young Arabs who hijacked a British jetliner from Beirut to Amsterdam and set it afire, destroying the interior.

Airport security precautions were stepped up in connection with the hijackers' threat that their group was planning other attacks on British and American airliners.

The two hijackers, who identified themselves to police as Abu Said and Abu Ali, hijacked the plane Sunday.

They allowed the 92 passengers and 10 crew members to disembark before they set the plane ablaze with the craft's liquor supply. Two passengers were slightly injured evacuating the craft, and the hijackers, armed with revolvers, were arrested without offering resistance.

IN PERSPECTIVE

Nationwide inauguration of the new 55-mile-an-hour speed limit brings the energy crisis home to everyone, including many who had not really had a prior first-hand experience with the situation. In states where gasoline has been in short supply, the people already were well aware of the inconvenience and hardship of the crisis but not all states had such a shortage.

Nebraskans, for instance, have had to put up with the shortage only in terms of minimal inconvenience. There has been ample gasoline in Nebraska, except for the closing of some stations on Sunday.

Nebraskans have had no real difficulties unless they have tried to make trips beyond the borders of the state and they have not always had problems even then. But the new speed limit brings the shortage close to home and will continue to do so in the months ahead.

Many in authority in government have said that the new limits will work because the people will cooperate with the law. Our feeling is that it is not so much a matter of cooperation as one of forced compliance. People will live with the new limit simply because they will get a ticket for speeding if they do otherwise.

Nebraska did not pass the new speed limit law out of any feeling of voluntary cooperation. It passed the law because, if it did not do so, it would lose a substantial amount of highway construction matching funds from the federal government.

Further, it is our honest feeling that the longer the new law is on the books, the more disenchanted of it the driving public will become. Disenchantment with the lower limit may not become overwhelming but we are kidding ourselves if we think the limit will ever be a popular one.

In a weekend report, United Press International discussed some of the developments in our society as a result of inconveniences and changing life styles that have resulted from the energy crisis. The net results of things seem to be that people are finding it difficult to adjust to a condition in which they may not do as they please.

Some may say that this is a mark of selfishness or that, as a society, we have become soft or spoiled, and that the discipline of the energy crisis will be good for us. Be that right or wrong, it is a substantial change from the past.

In the past, economics has been the big determining factor in the lives of people. What people could afford to do, they were free to do. Now, their mobility is greatly reduced because the natural resources are not available, regardless of economic ability.

There is the further problem of who will pay the heaviest price in all this. Very likely, the heaviest price will be paid by the lower income groups.

Mobility will be greatly curtailed for those who relied, for economic reasons, upon the automobile. Higher income groups may find it possible simply to shift from the automobile to transportation by air.

In business and industry, the lower limits will fall more heavily upon some groups than others. Any business or industry tied in with transportation of any kind over the nation's highways will face a multitude of problems.

These are problems that will eventually filter down in some form to all of us but they hit hardest and most directly at a limited element of society.

Time could prove us wrong, but the lower speed limit seems to have a potential for a significant impact upon the country and its people. We doubt that there is yet much knowledge or understanding of what that ultimate impact will be. It may be a change we have taken far too lightly.

British Campaign Costs Modest By Comparison

LONDON — "You may think 1,075 pounds ($2,400) is little," said the Labor party spokesman at party headquarters, "but many of our candidates are finding it hard to raise that kind of money." His remark threw into sharp relief the differences between campaign spending in British parliamentary elections and in American congressional races.

Political party organizations may spend as much as they like on national promotion. Here again, though, the actual outlays are modest by American standards. The Labor party is reported to have paid $60,000 for private polls taken over the past 18 months. The better heeled Conservative party spent during the recent short campaign.

One of the final acts of the recently dissolved Parliament was to raise the modest limit on expenditures from $1,700 to $2,400 for each candidate. Furthermore, under the provisions of the Representation of the People Act (1969), each candidate receives an allowance of 6 pence per 6 voters if he is standing in a country seat and of 6 pence per 8 voters if he is standing in an urban constituency. As the average constituency in England contains around 56,000 voters, this means the candidate may spend an extra $325 or so in his campaign.

The laws governing campaign spending are explicit and rigorous. Should a candidate spend more than the law allows, his campaign runs the risk of being invalidated. In addition, he would face heavy fines plus court costs. The result is that few break the law. No one at Labor party headquarters can recall the last time a member of Parliament was deprived of his seat for spending abuses.

The Labor party recommends that its candidates apportion their campaign money as follows: $338 for a political consultant, $1,000 for printing, $100 for advertising, $200 for stationery, $100 for stamps and telephones, $100 for rental of meeting halls, $85 for committee meetings, and $120 for such miscellaneous items as messenger service.

The Conservatives are outspending the opposition on television also. Although the British Broadcasting Corporation provides free facilities for videotaping — and both the Liberals and Labor take full advantage of this opportunity — the Tories prefer to hire their own technicians.

The telecasts themselves are shown free of charge. During the current campaign, Labor and the Conservatives each are allotted five telecasts and the Liberals three. All such programs are limited to 10 minutes. These Party Political Broadcasts, as they are called, appear on the tube at 10 p.m., just before the nightly news roundup. Much to the irritation of many viewers, all three channels air the broadcasts simultaneously.

As for contributions to party campaign chests, it is estimated that Labor will receive around $1.2 million, most of it from the trade unions. The Conservatives will take in considerably more. Last year, with no general election on the horizon, the directors of 315 British companies donated a total of $1.4 million to the Tories. The largest single contribution was $80,000.

Americans may well envy Britain's frugal and well-regulated system of campaign financing.

"I Think I'll Write A Book About My Six Problems"

The Malaise Spreads

This has been a miserable last few days for established governments.

Against a background of the continuing troubles of the Nixon administration in the United States and the power struggles waged in the Peoples Republic of China, internal turmoil has beset governments from the Middle East to North Africa and all across Europe.

Over the weekend Mrs. Golda Meir, the premier of Israel, threatened to quit because the various cabinet lineups she had put together failed to achieve majority support in parliament and among the public. By Monday it still appeared that she was on the way out. Last week, the Ethiopian government resigned under pressure from the military and the autocratic rule of Emperor Haile Selassie's dynasty appears weakened, perhaps forever.

British Prime Minister Edward Heath, whose Conservative Party lost its majority in the House of Commons in elections last week, apparently has failed in his attempts to form a coalition with minority parties and is expected to resign soon. Italian Premier Mario Rumor and his government resigned within the last few days and Italians are looking for their 36th post-war government. French Premier Pierre Messmer and his Gaullist government resigned last week, although Messmer was asked by President Georges Pompidou to form a new cabinet to head off yet another crisis. And in West Germany, Chancellor Willy Brandt's declining political fortunes received another jolt when his Social Democratic Party received a severe setback in weekend legislative elections in the city-state of Hamburg, losing the absolute majority it has had since 1957. An advisor of Brandt's said that the reason for his party's decline did not seem to be in local issues, but in a general malaise that extends to the rest of the country.

That general malaise, a feeling that things are going to hell, seems to be prevalent well past the borders of Germany, and it doesn't present a very pleasant forecast.

Europe cannot achieve its full potential for economic and political power and stability through unity if the member states are wracked with internal divisions. And that resultant disunity also spells trouble for the United States. A permanent solution for the Middle East problem also seems to be out of the question until such time as Israel is sure of what she wants and sure of what she is willing to give up.

There are glimmers of hope in disintegrating political situations, however, and one of them is that they are cyclical by nature.

Amnesty Position Softens

President Nixon struck a responsive chord with the great silent majority in 1972 when he came down hard against amnesty for those who left the country and refused to serve in the armed forces during the Vietnam war. There are indications now, however, that the anti-amnesty mood is softening somewhat.

Pollster Louis Harris reports that while a solid majority of people are still against unconditional amnesty — letting the draft evaders and deserters come home without any strings attached — a slim plurality now favors amnesty if two years of national service outside the military, such as hospital, prison or school work, is required.

Harris says "the forgiving quality of the American public obviously comes into conflict with the principle of equality of sacrifice, especially in time of war. Therefore, most Americans are unsympathetic to the idea of unconditional amnesty for those who refused to serve and left the country."

But the tide appears to be swinging in favor of the national service requirement which would persuade at least some of the young men to come home and would help to heal one of the wounds in American society left over from this nation's tragic involvement in Southeast Asia. It is a heartening development.

Longstanding bitterness is one legacy of the Vietnam war that we can live without.

ANTHONY LEWIS

BOSTON — Imagine a large corporation with a powerful president, one who makes it company policy to keep ultimate control of operations in his own hands. Over a year, 16 of this president's close associates are charged with serious crimes.

His personal lawyer, the company's former counsel and two members of the president's staff plead guilty. So does the vice president. Two other staff members are tried and convicted. Nine more are indicted, among them his top personal assistants and the heads of two major subsidiaries.

At a stockholders' meeting the president said he knew nothing of these affairs. He deplores them, he says, but his duty is to get on with the company's business; legal questions are for the courts. When a group of stockholders asks to see the records of his own corporate dealings, he says no: that might prejudice the trial of his associates; and besides, such disclosure is against company policy.

That simple analogy may help to clarify the great principle at stake in the effort to make President Nixon face the legal and political consequences of Watergate. That is the principle of accountability.

Is democracy more important in a corporation than in a country? Does a company president have a greater duty to account to his source of authority, his citizens, than does the president of the United States? The propositions are absurd, and especially so in a country whose system of government was designed to assure accountability.

In the first Congress to sit under our Constitution, one of its principal framers, James Madison, argued successfully that a president should be able to dismiss subordinate government officials. That power, Madison said, would make him "responsible for their conduct, and subject him to impeachment himself, if he suffers them to perpetrate with impunity high crimes or misdemeanors against the United States, or neglect to superintend their conduct so as to check their excesses."

The notion that a president need not answer to anyone for massive wrongs in his administration — not to Congress, not to the courts, not to the people — is utterly alien to the American system. Yet that is the precise end to which the Catch 22 strategy of President Nixon and his lawyers is designed to lead.

Nixon says first that he is beyond the jurisdiction of any court: He cannot be indicted while in office, he cannot be questioned by a grand jury and he cannot even be made to provide evidence. All last summer he strenuously resisted a subpoena for tapes and documents, even trying to evade a court order and finally complying only under the compulsion of public outrage. Now again he is refusing to supply evidence to the special prosecutor.

The next step in the strategy is the argument that a president can be impeached only for criminal offenses. Nixon's lawyer, James St. Clair, narrowed it some more last week, claiming that impeachment is limited to criminal offenses "of a very serious nature committed in one's governmental capacity."

It is sad to see a lawyer who knows better make so shoddy an argument, one so devoid of support in history or logic.

St. Clair will raise obstacles to an impeachment even on his narrow grounds. For one thing, he will probably try to keep the

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son, 28, had a bad sunburn five years ago. It left him with a round mark the size of a quarter, and just as round, on his shoulder near the middle of his back. This mark turns very white in winter, and in summer when he gets sun on it it turns very red and gets sore. He turns any idea what this could be? — Mrs. O. L.

I could guess, having seen cases quite similar. Let's start with what happens when you get a tan. The sun's rays incite cells in the skin to produce brown pigment (the tan) which is protective.

But with a severe burn, these tan-producing cells can be destroyed. It is quite possible your son had a blister at that spot where the skin stays white in winter.

Such a damaged area no longer has the ability to produce brown pigment, accounting for the whiteness in winter. But without this protective mechanism, the spot can burn in summer, turning red and getting pretty sore but not tanning.

The simplest solution, and perhaps the only one, is to keep that spot covered when exposed to the sun in summer. One of the sun lotions containing a "sun screen" ingredient, to filter out most of the burning rays may be adequate. Otherwise a small dressing to cover the spot could be used. Fastened with a flesh-colored adhesive patch, it wouldn't be conspicuous.

I know of no way of undoing that type of skin damage.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a breast removed more than a year ago and all is well except that my arm has begun to swell. I would appreciate knowing some exercises to make the swelling subside or stop getting worse. — Mrs. B. P.

Exercises for this are primarily those involving arm and reaching movements. Often physical therapy (massage, and use of an arm cuff) is necessary. I suggest you write to "Reach to Recovery Foundation," c/o American Cancer Society, 219 East 42nd St., New York, N.Y. 10017, which has information dealing with this particular problem.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could using straight bleaching peroxide on the hair each month cause a weakness or loss of vision over a period of time? — D. T.

No, it would have no effect on vision.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do women reach an age when the Pap smear is no longer necessary? — Mrs. A.

No. The main purpose of the Pap test is to detect cancer in its early stages, and there is no known "age limit" at which cancer cannot start.

There is substantially less risk if the cervix has been removed, as part of a hysterectomy, but that does not mean that cancer is impossible.

Therefore it is wise for even elderly women to have a periodic pelvic examination and Pap test.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have arthritis and am taking indomethacin three times a day. It helps me more than anything I ever took before. Now I am afraid. Won't I have some side effects? Will be looking for an answer in the paper. — Mrs. F. D.

Maybe you will have some side effects and maybe you won't. Side effects aren't something that always happens. They are something that may happen.

Instead of worrying about what might happen, just be glad you are one of the patients who are helped by this drug. If side effects do develop to any serious degree, your doctor will take you off that medication.

It's fine to be on guard; it is pointless to expect that the worst is going to happen when usually it doesn't.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My eye doctor told me when I bought contact lenses that I would never be able to take birth control pills. Has this been medically documented? — A. F.

Did he say "would not" or "might not"? Some women can, some can't. Occasionally the pill is accompanied by accumulation of fluid in the tissues. When this occurs in the eyes, the use of contact lenses becomes difficult.

Note to Mrs. F. C. E.: Boils are caused by common bacteria on the skin. When they start to multiply in a pore or around a hair root or even in a trivial break in the skin, then you have a boil — or a crop of boils.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

People's Choice

Lincoln, Neb.

Judge Hastings has declared certain phases of the development of the Kresge block unconstitutional. Judge Hastings did hold that the legislation insofar as it authorizes the construction of our off-street parking only, without a vote of the people, is not in violation of the constitution. This was made possible by a bill the city got the state legislators to pass in 1972.

However, Judge Hastings said that it would require extremely imaginative thinking on the part of anyone interested in off-street parking facilities to be built with municipal tax revenues, without a vote of the people.

We all profess to believe in and defend the principle of Lincoln's home rule charter, but we are forever going to the legislators to get legislation enacted to deprive us of our home rule rights.

Home rule simply means we have the right to govern ourselves as we see fit, as long as there is no conflict with state or federal law.

The City Council can go to the people directly for any legislation they feel is necessary for the benefit of the people. If the people agree, then it becomes a part of our home rule charter, and this is the only way one can have true home rule under laws. Let's take this issue to the people.

Let's not weaken our home rule charter further by going to the Legislature to get enabling legislation to let us go ahead on this project.

Let's put it to a vote of the people and let them decide.

Waverly Boosters

Waverly, Neb.

Thirteen years ago we moved to Waverly from Lincoln, not to escape the higher taxes but because of a business opportunity. We found then that the village of Waverly and the people who lived here were friendly and intelligent and progressive, and we were very happy that we had made this move.

It is very distressing to us to read the continuing articles in The Star, with the inaccuracies and innuendoes about the way the city fathers have handled the growth of the city.

We feel that all concerned have done their level best to handle the problems that have come with such a rapid growth as Waverly has experienced.

From Mr. Rick Carlson's statements, one can conclude only that he made a big error in moving here, and should hurry back to Lincoln, where everything he wants and needs is at his fingertips.

As for us, we're happy here and intend to stay. We'll work with everyone who is truly interested and with positive ideas, and we'll make Waverly bigger and better.

Welfare Mothers

Lincoln, Neb.

I am writing in regard to the letter from Marcia D. Wohlers in the Feb. 20 Star. I, too, am tired of helping support other people and their children, but I am also tired of giving away thousands of tax dollars to support those who already have hundreds of thousands.

How can we begrudge a welfare mother a lousy $124 a month and yet sit in silence when we know that Nixon's brother got thousands of dollars for taking two trips and a Supreme Court judge gets more thousands of dollars for being a "consultant"? And how long could we support a welfare child on the $400,000 spent on Agnew after he was proven to be a criminal?

I am also extremely tired of our tax dollars going for steaks, champagne and "professional escorts" for Pentagon generals.

If we truly wish to end ADC payments, then let's pass LB972 and take care of these children so their mothers can get out of the house and get the education and training, not to mention the self-esteem they need to get and hold a decent job, and thereby end this vicious cycle.

Speed Limit

Lincoln, Neb.

How can any state senator be so dumb as to be against the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit when auto mechanics, dealers and manufacturers have always known and said that a driver uses less gasoline at 55 than at 65 or 75? I, too, would rather drive 75 on the interstate but I am willing to try to conserve gas, and I notice that most other sensible people drive around 55.

As far as getting federal money, I have heard that Nebraska gets more federal money than we send to Washington. Now, I do not know if that is a fact.

Some people never want to pitch in and help.

TOM CRAWFORD

Loyal Americans

Lincoln, Neb.

The defenders of Nixon invariably brag about his improved relations with China, detente with Russia, conclusion of the Vietnamese war and vigorous initiative in the Mideast conflagration.

(a) The detente from Russia didn't stop them from arming and backing the Arabs in their unprovoked attack upon Israel. It cost us billions in an aggravated inflation related to the great wheat giveaway. I am for detente but not a one-sided one.

(b) We saved the Arabs from ignominious defeat and have weakened Israel so badly that the next time there is an invasion, we will have to be involved. If Russia has our downfall in mind, this will suit them quite well.

(c) Relationship with China was long overdue and in this regard I get very sick of the Republicans creating a climate of near terror where good national judgment is forfeited and then coming in and doing what they have disallowed before and saying: "Look how great we are!"

(d) Nixon ended the Vietnam war because the stage was set by the thinkers in this nation who were willing to act as a catalyst and cause us to get out of a tragic rut. He says we are out of it but still sends billions in support and the countryside rages with clashes, shooting and terror. My credit on Vietnam goes to the few in Congress who voted against the Gulf of Tonkin resolution and the peaceniks. After Vietnam, I think we will have a hard time pointing at the atrocities of other nations.

(e) One individual or party is not God. Instead of being loyal Republicans, let us be loyal Americans. God is truth, fairness, reason, justice — and Watergate reeks with the absence of that.

PERSPECTIVE

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:
Romance Can Cure
Some Physical Ills

By ROBERT PETERSON
QUESTION: — "Dad, 72, had been miserable since Mom died four years ago. He had one complaint after another. If it wasn't arthritis it was linellness, or he griped about the size of his pension or the noise of the neighbors. Then he met Sadie. This widow is a dozen years his junior. She's pretty, peppy, and full of positive thinking. She puffs up his ego, calls him Sir Lancelot, and makes him feel like the greatest catch since Francis X. Bushman. Funny thing is, she's really honest and sincere. Well, they went together three months and then got married. We haven't heard a sour note from Dad since. Is it possible physical ill's can be cured by romance?"

ANSWER — Some of them can. It's often said that half of all physical complaints of those crowding doctors' offices are emotionally induced. While romance won't cure them all, it's quite possible that if an ailing, lonely widower meets the right kind of female companion, many of his complaints will float right out the window.

QUESTION: — "I'm 77, healthy and independent, and get sick of the way people treat me like an old lady. Bus conductors run to grab my elbow, policemen try to walk me across the street, and ushers at church tell me they're going to take me up front where I can hear — even though I hear better than they do. Why can't they treat me like an ordinary human being?"

ANSWER: — If they did you'd probably gripe about their discourtesy and inattention to elders. Good manners demand that younger people give special consideration to older people. They also demand that elders accept these courtesies with grace and gratitude. Unless you're appreciative when assistance is offered, the day may come when you'll need aid and no one will dare extend a hand to help.

QUESTION: — "I agree with the fellow who wrote you saying too many elders sit on their duffs expecting favors. I was in charge of our local hospital drive to get volunteers willing to work four hours weekly. We mailed an appeal to everyone past 65 in the area. Only two people out of 96 responded. Doesn't this prove something?"

ANSWER: — Maybe it just proves your appeal lacked appeal. Some crusty, dissipated elders may spurn civic chores. But most folks along in years and in good health are only too glad to cooperate when made to feel needed. Next time, don't just send out a circular. Get on the phone, ring some doorbells, and ask various clubs and organizations to use their influence in encouraging elders to sign up for volunteer tasks.

QUESTION: — "My wife insists people live longer in warm climates. Is this true?"

ANSWER: — No. There is no proof that climate has anything to do with length of life. Mild climates, however, are credited with making life more bearable for those who have heart trouble, arthritis, respiratory ill's or similar ailments.

Forecast For Tuesday

A survey of thousands of horoscopes reveals that famous French scientists and physicians were born when Mars was coming over the horizon. Writers, painters and musicians were seldom born at this time. Politicians were born with Jupiter rising, but scientists seldom have Jupiter in this sector. No famous French writer was born with Saturn on the Ascendant. These statistics, and others equally as impressive, have been compiled by French scientist Michel Gauquelin. Ironically, Gauquelin began his research for the purpose of discrediting astrology!

School Aid Distribution Formula Up In Air

Initial debate in the Legislature over the proposed spending limit for schools spread Monday into a discussion over the formula under which state aid to schools is distributed.

Lawmakers adjourned for the day without taking final action on Sen. Ramey Whitney's proposed amendment to alter the current distribution formula.

The bill, LB984, is an amended version of Gov. J. James Exon's proposed school spending limit. Senators plan to enact the measure before taking final action on the bill to increase school aid from $55 million to $120 million a year.

Veto Probable

Without a spending limit, Exon would almost surely veto the school aid proposal.

Whitney's proposed amendment to LB984 would write into the bill a higher level of per pupil aid.

But, Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly pointed out, if increased state aid fails to win enactment or is successfully vetoed, the new per pupil figures would vastly change the distribution of school aid at the current $55 million level.

And the result, he said, would be to reduce the dollar figures now available to schools which qualify for equalization aid.

"He's trying to get more foundation (per pupil) aid by taking money out of equalization," Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue said.

Not 'Fair Shake'

But Whitney argued that many schools (mostly rural) "do not get a fair shake" under the current formula.

Small schools with a large base of local property tax support often do not qualify for equalization aid, which is designed to equalize tax support and improve the quality of education.

Sen. Richard Lewis of Holbrook supported the Whitney proposal, arguing that it is difficult to justify increased state aid, with a resulting increase in state sales and income tax rates, if some schools receive no additional assistance.

Whitney prepared two proposals for hiking the per pupil allotment. The first lost on an 18-25 roll call vote; the second was pending at adjournment.

2% Annual Raise

The basic school spending limit in LB984 is a salary budget ceiling equal to a 2% annual increase plus hikes in the cost of living.

Most other expenditures are tied to a 2% boost plus changes in the wholesale price index.

In other education-related action, the Legislature refused to revive a bill which would have broadened the application of the teachers' professional negotiation act.

But Sen. Frank Lewis came within one vote of the 25 required to raise the bill from the Labor Committee, where it died on a 4-3 vote.

The Lewis motion failed on a 24-21 count.

The bill, LB843, would have required school boards to negotiate with teachers in all school districts in the state, refined the use of fact-finding boards to resolve disputes and provided for ultimate appeal to the Court of Industrial Relations.

As a result, Lewis said, it would "speed up the process" of negotiation and provide that most disputes be "handled locally."

Bar Exam Revisions Resisted

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

State Sen. Ernest Chambers and six Nebraska Supreme Court justices Monday sparred verbally for more than an hour on Chambers' proposal to unveil the secrecy surrounding the state bar examination.

"The Star Chamber is a thing of the past in theory. Now, it is the time to make it a thing of the past actually," Chambers said afterwards, referring to a 15th Century English court notorious for its secrecy.

Chambers, a law student himself, drew fire from the judges on his proposals to increase access to copies of the bar exam, expand the grounds for appeal for those denied admittance to the bar and to start a legislative study of the bar association.

The judges said it was necessary to keep the exams and to keep them confidential to ensure that all practicing attorneys have met certain basic prerequisites and that the exams are fair to applicants regardless of when they take the exam.

Following the unusual meeting between the court and the Legislature's Government Committee, Chambers said he will attempt to get his amended LB705 sent to the floor of the Legislature and to initiate a study of the bar association and its exam.

Chambers' amendments would allow those who failed the bar exam to have a copy of their corrected exam, would require publication of test questions 10 days after the exam and would expand grounds for appeal for those denied admittance to the bar.

In its original form, Chambers' bill would have abolished the bar exam and required only that an attorney be a graduate of a bonafide law school in Nebraska.

"This meeting shows the need for a study, not an investigation," Chambers said.

But Judge Lawrence Clinton suggested Chambers was infringing on the judicial branch's powers by proposing such a study.

Chambers said he does not understand why they would be opposed to such a study, if they are given an opportunity to "appear, consult and give direction" to the committee.

"Why would they be opposed unless they have some ominous things hidden?" Chambers asked. "Their offering does not meet minimum due process standards."

Chief Justice Paul White said the court would discuss the issues brought up by Chambers with the Bar Commission and reply by the end of next week.

Bill Authorizing State Office Building In Omaha Advances

By The Associated Press
LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The Legislature's Miscellaneous Subjects Committee Monday sent to the floor a bill authorizing construction of a state office building in Omaha.

The bill, LB945, is sponsored by Sen. John Cavanaugh of Omaha. Under the proposal, the city of Omaha would let $8 million in tax exempt bonds to pay for the building. The state would then pay the city rent until the bond issue was paid off.

The state now rents space in Omaha for its offices.

The committee also revived LB708, a bill to tighten up reporting procedures for lobbyists.

The bill had been killed earlier, but the committee voted to reconsider its action and advanced the bill after adopting an amendment.

That amendment strikes a provision in the bill that would have prohibited former senators from acting as lobbyists for four years after they leave the Legislature.

Killed by the committee was LB962, a bill introduced by Sen.

Obscenity Bill Gets Initial OK

By United Press International
The Legislature gave a 33-0 first round approval vote Monday to a bill designed to tighten up Nebraska's anti-obscenity laws.

Sent over its first floor hurdle was Omaha Sen. Glenn Goodrich's LB815, which was amended by Sen. John De Camp of Neligh prior to advancement.

Goodrich said the bill was designed to put into law the results of recent court decisions and also to clear up any questions surrounding existing law.

The senator noted a number of people have objected to current state laws on the ground they don't spell out exactly what is illegal. He said his bill, as amendment, would answer those questions.

Bill Authorizes Bond Issues For County Facilities

The Legislature's Revenue Committee approved a bill Monday that authorizes counties to build community buildings through bond issues.

The original bill, LB959, was amended so that both a majority of the voters in a city and the voters outside the city would have to vote for the bond issue.

As originally written, the bond issue would have only needed a simply majority of voters in a county, in effect allowing a county seat to use rural tax base to build its own community building.

Now such a proposal would have to have the support of a majority of the rural voters.

Resolution Calls For Naming Of Poet Laureate

A resolution establishing a poet laureate commission to select a poet laureate for Nebraska was introduced in the Legislature Monday.

The post has been vacant since the death of John G. Neihardt last November. Neihardt was named Nebraska's first poet laureate in 1923.

The resolution appoints Dr. Bernice Slote Lincoln as chairperson. Other members would be Helen Haggie of Lincoln, Hollis J. Limprecht of Omaha, Eunice L. Preston of Lincoln, Dr. Donovan L. Welch of Kearney and Nellie Snyder Yost of North Platte.

Sales Tax On Lodging Legal

The attorney general's office has informed Sen. Richard Fellman of Omaha that his proposal to authorize Douglas County to levy a sales tax on lodging is constitutional.

The bill, LB780, would authorize Douglas County to impose a sales tax not to exceed 3% of the charges for sleeping rooms furnished by hotels.

Proceeds would be used for advertising to attract conventions and promote tourism. The bill is being held by the Urban Affairs Committee.

Glenn Goodrich of Omaha to require pawnbrokers to obtain fingerprints or color photos of a pawn.

The committee advanced Sen. Gary Anderson's LB910, which would limit the holding of closed meetings by public agencies.

Also sent to the floor was LB1022, a bill sponsored by Sen. Richard Fellman of Omaha and supported by Gov. J. James Exon. The bill limits campaign spending by candidates for state office.

The bill sets a $50,000 limit on the amount the lieutenant governor and governor may each spend in the primary election, and permits the two to spend no more than $100,000 in the general election.

Candidates for secretary of state, state treasurer, state auditor or attorney general could each spend no more than $60,000 in the general election and $30,000 in the primary.

Candidates for the Legislature could spend $5,000 each in the general election, $2,500 in the primary.

And candidates for the Public Service Commission could spend $25,000 each in the general election, $12,500 in the primary.

Education Committee Advances Tech College Construction Bill

By The Associated Press
The Legislature's Education Committee approved a bill Monday that would allow technical community colleges to levy a half mill tax for capital construction projects.

The technical community colleges had asked for a whole mill. Last fall, the state Board of Technical Community Colleges decided to push for the taxing power rather than go after capital construction appropriations from the state.

The schools currently have a one mill levy for their support and state appropriates additional money for their operation.

The bill, LB853, was advanced to the floor.

Another bill amended and advanced by the committee allow children 19 to 21 to receive state special education benefits.

A bill that would have required that teachers could only be fired for just cause was killed.

It was LB849 introduced by Sen. Wally Barnett of Lincoln.

Child Support Deduction Bill Advances

By United Press International
The Legislature gave first round approval Monday to a bill which would allow courts to use payroll deductions as a means of insuring that child support payments are made.

But before LB1015 was advanced on a 28-0 vote, Sen. Ralph Kelly of Grand Island had an amendment attached.

The amendment would require the courts to keep track of child support awards ordered in divorce actions. Kelly said the idea is to find out if there is a problem in the area of child support.

"I maintain we have a huge problem" in terms of non-payment, the senator said, but currently there is no way to find out for sure.

The amendment was adopted on a 16-4 vote.

Motion To Request Fiscal Data Okd

By United Press International
Members of the Legislature, who must soon come to grips with spending proposals, approved a motion Monday aimed at getting up-to-date expenditure and revenue projections into their hands.

Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue requested the fiscal data so that the legislators will have the most current information when they vote for or against spending proposals.

His motion carried 27-0 after it was amended by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff to provide that the gathering of the figures would not delay the reporting to the legislative floor of the Budget Committee bills.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, chairman of the committee, said it would be better to get his group's recommendations onto the floor before requiring the fiscal staff to work up the information Lewis requested.

Measure To Aid Officers In Drug Cases Survives

By United Press International
The Legislature Monday rejected attempts to kill or water down a bill designed to give law enforcement officers an out when a pusher sells them a substance that turns out to be something other than a drug.

Sen. John Cavanaugh of Omaha offered the bill motion on LB747 saying the bill would serve no purpose.

The bill would make it a felony crime for someone to sell a substance claiming it to be a drug when it wasn't. Under existing law, no crime would be committed under those circumstances.

"I feel the basic intent is frivolous and the bill wouldn't serve any purpose," Cavanaugh said.

He also said enactment of the measure might lead to abuses on the part of law enforcement officers and undercover agents who are out to make arrests one expenditures when the Legislature does not yet know what it will do.

But Lewis said when the state spends a quarter of a million dollars for an expert fiscal staff, the legislators have a right to be provided the staff figures on tax collections, income growth projections, expenditures, and balances.

"At some point we are going to have to get the fiscal staff figures," Sen. John Cavanaugh of Omaha said. "I believe we are going to have to have a projection on income before we act" on the spending proposals.

He added that Marvel must have made some projections when he said last weekend that he believes the state could live with an 11% state income tax rate both this year and next year. "I don't believe we can do it and that we are entitled to know what Sen. Marvel based his projections on," Cavanaugh said.

Lewis said all he was interested in was a review by experts of the state's economic picture for the guidance of the lawmakers.

way or another.

But his bill motion was rejected on a 29-6 court after Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said the bill would give law enforcement officers a necessary tool for use in doing their job. The committee sponsored the bill.

Sen. Steven Fowler of Lincoln then offered an amendment to make the crime a misdemeanor rather than a felony. He said that would insure that a person wasn't charged with a more serious crime than he would have been in the first place. He said he was particularly interested in marijuana cases, where either felony or misdemeanor charges can be filed.

But the amendment was rejected on a 28-4 vote and ultimately the bill was sent over its second floor hurdle on a 28-3 vote.

Pay Cut Provision Kept

By United Press International
Sen. Duke Snyder of Omaha was unsuccessful Monday in an attempt to amend out of a bill a provision that would allow the members of the Douglas County Board cut their salaries.

The provision was tacked onto a bill, LB646, last week while Snyder was excused from the chamber.

In another measure, LB950, Snyder has proposed that the Douglas County Board salaries be frozen at $12,000 and that the board be stripped of its authorization to set salaries of its members.

Snyder, who will not seek re-election but who was rumored as a possible candidate for the Douglas County Board, said during debate it is "doubtful" he will try to become a county commissioner.

Members of the board recently approved raising their salaries from $12,000 to $15,000. When numerous protests followed they tried to rescind their action, but the attorney general said it was very doubtful they could do so under present law.

The Carpenter amendment to LB646 would give the board until March 15 to revise salaries of members.

San Francisco — In these gloomy no-gas days, we went through what is called "the annual checkup." (Was a time I just took an aspirin. Now I go for the blooming works.)

We have been poked and prodded. Flashlighted. Tapped with rubber hammers — "With a kick like that we can get you a spot on the 49ers," said the medico.

Our diet is inquired into. "I eat like a horse," I said. "Neigh, neigh."

"Very funny," said the medic. "Let's try the old blood pressure." He wrapped up my arm and pumped. "Hmmm," he said.

"Take this slip up to X-ray," said the doctor. Medicine is specialized these scientific days. (You could cut your throat and the stomach man would not touch you. "Out of my department. See Dr. Jones, ear, nose and throat. Hours 3 to 5.")

I can remember when we didn't have annual poke-and-prod sessions. We just swallowed the aspirin and said, "Maybe it will go away in an hour."

Nowadays, I cannot pick up a magazine without reading about all the horrid things that are happening to me.

"Annual checkups are your best insurance."

I read that in my own insurance company ad. At first I could not see why they should downgrade their own insurance. But I imagine they are taking the odds on their bet.

Insurance is peculiar. You must pass to your reward under very special, fine-printed circumstances. The more you see the doctor, the less chance they will have to pay off.

X-ray is a curious department of modern medicine. This is where we get the picture on the old pump.

"Take off everything down to the waist," said the lady in the white smock.

The lady slapped a pair of oversize calipers on my bare chest.

"Good heavens, girl! Those are cold."

"Now, now," she said soothingly. "Just step up and put your chest against that plate. Chin up. That's right."

Ladies in X-ray, I have found, develop a false gaiety in their voices. Something like your own voice when you tell the child: "Wouldn't you rather play something else beside cooking the cat in the oven, dear?"

Back at the X-ray Ranch. There you are with something buzzing in back of you. And you think, "She probably turned it on and forgot to turn it off. I am probably well-done, already."

"Breathe deeply," she said. "Hold it."

I tell you a man standing around in his pants, with his chest against cold metal, is in a bad psychological position.

"You may dress now," said the smiling lady, switching off the current and stepping out of the lead box.

"Sound as a dollar," said the doctor.

I said: "Isn't there some other way you could put that?"

Omaha Ed Board Said Intentionally Segregating

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Board of Education was accused in U.S. District Court Monday of intentionally taking steps to segregate local schools, through practices which the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled illegal.

U.S. Attorney Ross Connealy said the board had used "most if not all" of the methods the high court ruled illegal in a case involving the Denver, Colo., school system.

The Denver case has been to the Supreme Court twice, but is still unresolved.

School board attorney Gerald Laughlin said the board conceded there is "substantial residential segregation" in Omaha, but that the board did not cause school segregation and that, therefore, is not obligated to correct any racial imbalance that exists.

Snyder Calls For Lobbyist To Quit Post

Sen. Duke Snyder of Omaha Monday called for "the immediate resignation" of James Moylan as the paid lobbyist for Douglas County government.

Snyder said Moylan is the lobbyist for five other groups — four of them private — sits on the University of Nebraska Board of Regents and has now agreed to be "campaign manager" for Democratic congressional candidate Dan Lynch of Omaha.

"I just don't think he has time to do a proper job of representing Douglas County," Snyder said.

Moylan, he said, is paid about $15,000 a year plus expenses by the county.

Lynch, chairman of the Douglas County Board, is seeking election to the Second District seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Snyder said he doesn't like "the idea that he (Moylan) never has time to appear before a committee on legislation dealing with Douglas County. He's got a damn good thing going, and I think people ought to know it."

Food Project, 'Greek Follies' Slated At UNL

The annual University of Nebraska-Lincoln Greek Week, March 9-13, will include a "Greek Follies" and a city-wide service project, according to the Interfraternity Council, one of its sponsors.

"Greek Follies" is a revival of theater sketches done annually by fraternities and sororities in the 1960s entitled "With a Little Help From Our Friends." Admission for the public is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. It will be held Saturday in the Coliseum.

The 4,000 members of UNL's fraternity and sorority houses will also canvass the city during the week for a canned goods drive on behalf of the Lancaster County Public Welfare Department.

Connealy said the Supreme Court has ruled that a district may be found guilty of intentional segregation through the use of such practices as setting attendance zones and feeder patterns and building new schools with the knowledge they will be segregated.

"The clear unavoidable conclusion from the evidence to be presented is that the segregated schools exist in Omaha," Connealy said, "and that they result from actions and practices of the board and that the natural, probable and foreseeable effect of the actions was racial segregation."

Some 15 spectators were in Judge Albert G. Schatz's courtroom as the nonjury trial began.

Laughlin said neighborhood school policy would result in segregated schools as a result of "substantial residential segregation in Omaha," and conceded the board has not done certain things that would have increased integration.

But, he said, the issue is "if we have not caused the segregation, do we have the affirmative obligation to alleviate the racial imbalance? The answer, we submit, is no."

The next question, he said, was whether the district caused segregation to exist. Laughlin

4 Teachers Quit At Creighton U In Time Dispute

Omaha (AP) — Four psychiatric nursing teachers at Creighton University have submitted resignations because of a curriculum change.

Asst. Prof. Helen Palisin, one of the four, said the dispute stems from a decision to change the psychiatric nursing course from a semester to trimester basis.

She said the new schedule would disrupt teaching procedures.

The resignations are effective in May.

Others who resigned are Mary Ann Hoefler, associate professor; Judith Rath, instructor, and Diane Dodendorf, assistant professor.

Dr. Eleanor Repp, dean of the nursing school, said she was not at liberty to comment on the matter.

said he would prove the board has not.

Federal attorney Connealy charged that the "constant, recurring theme" of the district is that white students living in the neighborhood of black schools do not have to attend those schools.

Connealy said optional attendance zones, the open school policy for two schools and the district's transfer policy enabled them to attend predominantly white schools.

Laughlin said that while "freedom of choice" practices have been found insufficient for districts that have an obligation to desegregate, he said he has not been found unconstitutional for districts without that obligation.

Telepathy Topic For Dr. Ullman

Dreams and telepathy and their value in expanding human potential will be discussed Wednesday by a pioneer in psychic research, Dr. Montague Ullman.

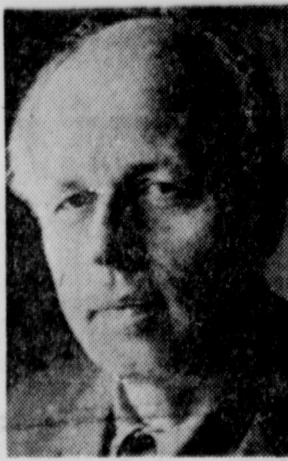

Dr. Ullman, director of the department of psychiatry at the Maimonides Medical Center in New York City, will discuss his research at 3:30 p.m. in the Nebraska Union, 14th and R Sts.

Ullman and a colleague have been experimenting in the power of one person to mentally induce another person in a soundproof room to receive a certain mental image in the form of a dream.

Convinced they have proven it can be done, Ullman said the next step is to explore what is possible with people while they are awake.

Ullman received his medical degree in 1938. He is the author of nearly 100 scientific articles and books and was quoted in a recent Time magazine article on psychic phenomena.

The UNFL Human Potentials Committee is sponsoring Ullman's speech.

Nuernberger May Run For County Engineer

The Railroad Transportation Safety District (RTSD) may be looking for a new director if Marvin Nuernberger files for the county engineer's post and wins the election this November.

Nuernberger told the RTSD Board Monday that he is "giving serious consideration" to running for the post, now held by Walter Hoppe. Hoppe has announced he will not seek reelection to the job.

Nuernberger said he should reach a decision by the end of this week on whether to throw his hat into the ring. The filing deadline is March 15. Three other candidates already have filed for the job.

Nuernberger said that even if elected, he would like to continue "in some capacity" with the district.

He said an acting director

Grain Exporters Will Hold Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz on Monday told a House subcommittee that he has been assured in telephone calls to and from grain exporters that, as he has predicted, they will hold back more than 100 million bushels of wheat this spring.

The wheat is a key element in arguments between Butz and officials of the American Bakers Association, who say the United States will run out of wheat because of record exports before the new crop falls to the combines in mid-spring.

Butz and USDA said that exporters bought the wheat as a hedge against export controls. The wheat will be available in the spring on the domestic market, Butz asserted.

Two Dissidents Speak Out On Deportation

©The New York Times

Moscow — Roy A. Medvedev, the dissident Marxist historian, declared Monday that the forced exile of Aleksandr I. Solzhenitsyn represented "a moral defeat for those in power who were neither willing nor able to answer his accusation" about Soviet repressions and who did not dare to put him on trial, even in secret.

A 1,300-word statement by Medvedev also said the author's banishment would not result in his spiritual death though it might mute his voice somewhat, but it proved the truth of the biblical saying that a "prophet is without honor in his own country."

Medvedev alleged that Solzhenitsyn's deportation after publication of his nonfiction account of the Soviet prison system, had caused ordinary people to say: "If they scold him so, if they chase him out of the country, it more than likely means that the writer spoke the truth."

Soviet prisons and camps and that the existence of such an extensive prison system undoubtedly "makes impossible" using foreign cooperation to help develop Soviet natural resources.

"The preservation of the camp system and forced labor is one of the reasons why extensive regions of the country are off limits to foreigners," Sakharov said in a 30-page essay.

He called on international organizations, especially the Red Cross, to abandon a policy of nonintervention in internal Soviet affairs and to protest vigorously against violations of human rights here.

Sakharov, who wrote his statement before Solzhenitsyn's arrest and banishment of Feb. 12 and 13, did not deal with it directly.

Legitimate Officer Will Identify Himself

Women drivers beware of unmarked "police" cars whose occupants could turn out to be rapists, robbers or assailants, warns the National Safety Council.

The Council advises the woman motorist who is stopped by a person in an unmarked vehicle to keep the doors locked; expect an officer to show his identification; and lower the window only enough to slip through her driver's license.

A woman, signaled to pull over by someone in an unmarked car, should proceed to a well-lighted or busy area before stopping, cautions the Council.

However this advice cannot be followed in Nebraska. In such states as Virginia or Maryland, motorists cannot be penalized for eluding police, unless the police car is marked.

But in Nebraska, "when the red light and siren comes on, by law, the motorist has to stop," explained Capt. Dean Leitner of the Lincoln Police Department. "Failure to stop constitutes the charge of fleeing."

"The unmarked police cars in Lincoln are equipped with red lights and a siren," but the officers might not use both simultaneously.

"But all unmarked police cars in Lincoln are not black," he pointed out, "which lends the opportunity for people to impersonate a police officer."

According to a report in the March 31, 1973 issue of "The National Observer," several unsuspecting women recently discovered the "policeman" who approached them was only an impersonator who had purchased an inexpensive and easily-obtained red light and displayed it on his car.

However, if caught in the act of impersonating a police officer, the offender faces a stiff penalty. According to the general law of the Lincoln municipal code, a penalty in such a case can be either a fine of up to $500 or imprisonment for up to six months, or both.

"There certainly isn't any problem with uniformed officers in a plain unit," Capt. Leitner contended, "but we do have cars of various colors. And the plain-clothes officers do operate in these vehicles."

Nevertheless, one can be relatively assured that the policeman is not an impersonator "by merely examining his credentials," the LPD Captain said.

"In Lancaster County, all law enforcement officers are commissioned," he explained, "and on their person they must carry a badge and a commission, which is signed by the heads of the various agencies, such as the sheriff, supervisor of the state patrol and the police chief."

"In the event of being stopped, the law enforcement person, when in plain clothes, will identify himself and will show his commission."

"We don't think the authenticity of a badge can be duplicated," Leitner added. "In the case of an imposter — they're easy to see, because they usually just flash their identification."

"If you're not satisfied with the identification, then get the license number of the vehicle and report it to the police department."

"There are really no precautionary measures that a motorist can take if the person has his car rigged with a light and a siren," he noted, "except to insist on seeing his identification."

"Every officer will comply in this regard. It's the person who won't comply you should be suspicious of."

"If a guy pulls up beside you and won't show you his credentials, then just get the hell out of there."

The Family Grocery Bill Is Higher Than Ever

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

One year after rumblings of consumer discontent which prompted boycotts and demonstrations over rising food costs, the family grocery bill is higher than ever. An Associated Press marketbasket survey shows the tab is 16% above last March's level.

"Shopping is a real problem," complained a Miami, Fla., woman. "I don't buy brand names any more and only shop on sale days. I'm managing because I buy in quantity and use food helpers to extend the food."

On the other side of the counter, a Dallas, Tex., supermarket manager said wholesale prices of just about everything were rising.

"Consequently," he said, "the whole grocery business is scrambling to keep up with the price changes."

The AP checked the prices of 15 food and nonfood items in 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked at the beginning of each succeeding month.

Last March, you'll remember, consumers were complaining that food prices — particularly at the meat counter — were soaring out of control. Organizations of angry shoppers sprang up and started a one-week meat boycott at the beginning of April — just after President Nixon froze the prices of most fresh meats.

Freezes and protests didn't stop the prices from rising, however.

The AP found that the market-basket total was higher this March than last March in every city checked, rising an average of 16%. Seventy-six per cent of the total number of items on the check list were up over the 12-month period.

The latest round of increases was led by a jump in sugar prices — a boost that will be reflected later in everything from bakery products to soft drinks to processed meats.

During February, sugar went up in every one of the 13 cities, rising an average 14%. Over the year, sugar went up an average of 36% and in some cities, the same five-pound sack of granulated sugar that cost about 70 cents last March was selling for $1 or more this year.

Eggs — which soared to record levels last year, then seasawed for a while — declined in every city, but the decreases did not offset the higher sugar prices.

The AP marketbasket total went up during February in nine of 13 cities checked, rising an average of 3%. It was down in four cities — decreasing a little less than 2%.

In addition, 33.8% of the total number of items checked went up in price during the one-month period. Nineteen per cent went down in price, 39.5% were unchanged and 7.7% were unavailable on one of the check dates.

Sugar was the main story, however. Sharply-soaring wholesale costs sent up the price of granulated sugar at the supermarket and at least one distributor said there were higher prices ahead.

Another sugar expert, Bill Hunter of the Florida Sugar Cane League, said that because of bad weather, the crop in his state, which produces 7% of the nation's raw sugar, will be lower this year than last year.

Hunter said the Florida sugar cane harvest last year was a record 9.9 million tons, which yielded about 960,000 tons of raw sugar. This year, he estimated, the crop will yield only 820,000 tons.

The price of sugar on the world market is even higher than in the United States, where the market is controlled, and has discouraged some foreign shippers from sending sugar to America.

At the same time, however, there are indications that buyers are rebelling over high foreign prices. The price of sugar futures, contracts for delivery in the future, was down in London both Wednesday and Thursday.

The daily price on the London market was set at $529 a ton on Thursday — down $92 from the week before's record price of $621 a ton.

At home, beef prices continued to rise in many areas, although special sales brought the price down in some cities. The price of chopped chuck, however, was higher this March than last in 11 cities; all-beef franks were more expensive in 10 cities.

Chopped chuck rose during February in six cities, up an average of 16%. The price was down in four cities, decreasing an average of 8%. Hamburger was unchanged in two cities and was not available in one.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has predicted that food prices over-all may rise as much as 16% this year. Last year, the government said, food prices generally rose about 20%.

The cities in the AP survey are: Albuquerque, Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle.

The items covered in the survey are: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice, coffee, paper towels, eggs, butter, detergent, fabric softener, peanut butter, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef franks and granulated sugar.

Not so surprising a combination, if you knew kraut was invented in China, Third Century, B.C.

Your Husband Is Wrong

Lora Appleman, daughter of
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Appleman was initiated by Alpha Phi ceremonies at Kearney State Fraternity for women in College.

DEAR ABBY: My husband insists that because boys will be boys, every boy should have his first sexual experience with a prostitute. He has several reasons: She can teach him about sex, there are no repercussions from the encounter, and it's preferable to learning with some Mama's girl in the back seat of a car.

I didn't know whether to laugh or hit him but on recovering, I informed him that the boy could wind up with V. D., and as for learning about sex in a house of prostitution, that was tantamount to learning about good food in the town sewer.

I also asked him if he thought that when our daughters reach their late teens, they should go to a male prostitute, to learn all about sex, 'cause "girls will be girls," just as boys will be boys. He didn't think that was funny, and said to ask Abby. So I'm asking you.

DEAR M.C.: If prostitutes offer educational courses for inexperienced boys, it's news to me. Perhaps your husband knows some who do. (Is he a graduate?) And what if a student develops such a ferocious loyalty to his "alma mater" that he keeps going back for graduate courses?

I'm on your side, Mother. And I'll bet the prostitutes are, too.

DEAR ABBY: I am nearly 90 years old and have a question which I hope you can answer for me as it has troubled me for a long time.

A relative of mine has the one and only picture of my dear departed mother and her first child — my older sister, who is also now dead. I know that it is possible to have pictures copied. I imagine they simply take a picture of the original, which should do no damage to the original.

My problem is that this relative refuses to let that original picture out of her sight. She is now convinced that it will do the original no harm to have a picture taken of it, but there is any place where this can be done while a person waits? She will not hear of leaving it overnight anywhere. She lives in Chicago. Thank you.

SIGN ME "OLD"
DEAR OLD: There ought to be a photographic studio in Chicago that would produce a copy of the original while you and your relative wait. Ask around.

DEAR ABBY: Here's how I have succeeded in getting my name off "junk" mailing lists: I simply cross off my name and address, and write, "REFUSED — RETURN TO SENDER" on the envelope. Then I drop it in a mailbox.

It costs the company money to receive this piece of mail back, so they seem eager to drop my name from their list. Of course, you must refuse the mail without opening the envelope, but I've gotten off numerous lists this way.

MRS. C. C.: LOMITA, CAL.
DEAR MRS. B.: Thanks for the tip. Some of those folks who impose their junk mail on people are going to hate us!

DEAR ABBY: My husband died suddenly three months ago. Last month was our 36th wedding anniversary. I didn't receive one gift or anniversary card from any of our friends who always used to remember us on that occasion. I felt terribly let down and hurt.

I have been told that when your mate dies, you no longer have a wedding anniversary. Is that true?

It seems you are treated entirely different after you lose your mate. You suddenly become a third wheel — unwanted and unnecessary. What do you think?

ALONE AND LONELY

DEAR ALONE: When one's mate dies, the wedding anniversaries cease. Your friends probably felt that sending gifts or cards would have revived memories of past anniversaries, which could conceivably sadden you, since you are now alone.

However, instead of ignoring the occasion, it would have been a kindness for some friends to have invited you out on that day.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I'm dumb, but I can't figure something out, and I hope you'll help me.

My husband sometimes likes a little change, so he goes out with another woman. Then he comes home and tells me the truth. He says that as long as he TELLS me about it I can't call that CHEATING on me.

In a way, I guess he's right! But I still don't think I should have to put up with it. Do I?

DELLA
DEAR DELLA: Not unless you want to. TELLING you that he has been unfaithful to you doesn't excuse his unfaithfulness. He's just one cut above most cheaters. They lie. He tells you the truth, but he's still a cheater.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Opening lead - two of hearts.

The principle of not looking a gift horse in the mouth can be easily extended to contract bridge. If the opponents give you a chance to make a contract you're not really entitled to make, you grab it without standing on idle ceremony.

North was obviously not a product of the scientific school of bidding. He undoubtedly had good diamond support, but the leap to six overstated his values.

He could have suggested a slam by jump-shifting in clubs and supporting diamonds later—a procedure which would have done his hand full justice.

North's optimism was rewarded, however, when West chose a heart as his opening lead. With any other lead, South would surely have failed.

Declarer had a critical problem to solve at trick one. The question was whether to play the ten or the queen from dummy. He chose the queen and made the slam, but the reasoning behind the queen play is worthy of study.

Clearly the card played is immaterial if either defender holds the K-J. If West has both honors, either play is successful; if East has both honors, either play fails.

South's choice is important only when West has the king and East the jack, or when West has the jack and East the king. In one case the queen play wins, in the other case it loses.

The only tangible clues to guide declarer are the bidding and the opening lead.

South has a right to assume that West would have led a spade had he held the A-K of that suit. Declarer therefore concludes that West has only one high spade honor and is consequently a big favorite to have the king of hearts for his overcall. Accordingly, South plays the queen.

$20,000 Health Project OKd

By LYNN ZERSCHLING
Star Staff Writer

The city Council Monday unanimously approved a $20,000 grant of revenue sharing dollars to beef up health programs for north Lincoln.

The program, which will be administered through the City-County Health Department, will provide a branch office of the department to serve people living in the area bounded by Cornhusker Hwy. to O, 10th to 48th.

The program was submitted by Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf last week as a substitute to continued funding of the Open Door Health Center. Nevertheless, the council last week appropriated $1,482 to the center for a continued 30 days' operation.

Funding Questioned
Council members questioned Monday whether continued funding of the expanded health program will be picked up with future revenue sharing funds or whether the program will be included in the Health Department's regular budget package. Cost of the program for one year was listed at $39,817 by the mayor.

In other action, the council delayed action one more week on the rewrite of its own rules of procedure on decorum and debate.

The council, at the request of Councilman Max Denney, brought two zoning applications off its pending list for public hearing and action next week.

Those applications are from M & S Development for a change of zone from A-2 Single Family to C Multiple at Hitchcock and 30th and Ted Baugher for a change of zone from B-W Family to D Multiple between 23rd and 24th on Y.

Denney was unsuccessful in persuading fellow lawmakers to whittle down the pending list even further by bringing the three shopping center applications up for debate and action next week.

Other council members indicated they wanted to await completion of the economic study now in its final stages being conducted by Hammer-Siler-George Associates.

Denney, conceding defeat on that issue, warned his associates, "If I don't hear any more by the middle of April, I'm going to make some more noise."

The shopping centers are proposed for 56th and Old Cheney Rd., 84th and O and 27th and Old Cheney Rd.

The council also held a public hearing on the proposed one-year lease between the City and David Murdock Development

Co. for use of 30 square feet of penthouse space at the First National Bank. The police department is proposing to install and maintain three remote-repeater radio stations and an emergency generator in the space. Action will be taken next week.

Repeal Advanced
The council also placed on first reading the repeal of Ordinance 10752, passed by the council April 16, 1973, authorizing construction of off-street parking garage for the Centrum.

The ordinance was declared unconstitutional by Judge William Hastings. In that court ruling last week, Hastings said the measure went beyond state law.

In further action the council:

Ordinances, Third Reading
—Indefinitely postponed amending code on minimum distances between components of sewage disposal systems and adjacent structures or property lines.
—Delayed accepting plat of Hillside Estates 1st Add., at 77th and Lexington.
—Amended Ordinance 10966 re change of zone to correct error in legal description.
—Created paving district in Westgate Park.
—Created sewer district in Westgate Park.
—Created ornamental lighting district in Westgate Park.

—Approved lease between city and Robert Schuchart for concession rights at Pioneer and Holmes park golf clubhouses.

Resolutions
—Set hearing date for March 18 on application of Brian Watkins, dba Sandi's Cove, for Class C liquor license, at 1011 West Dawes.
—Ordered construction paving district in Liebers Ave., Saybrook Ln. and Fieldcrest Way.
—Ordered construction ornamental lighting district in Liebers Ave., Saybrook Ln. and Fieldcrest Way.

Ordinances, First Reading
—Amending code re retail sale of alcoholic liquor in premises separate and distinct from operation of any other business, except hotels, motels, restaurants and existing nonconforming premises.
—Amending code to provide public entrance into retail liquor establishment may be from public street, alley or other public way and that public entrance requirements for such establishment may be provided through a common access open to general public.

Canteen Tom Prefers Prison

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Canteen Tom is a lifer and he wouldn't have it any other way. He even likes prison chow.

That's the word from Jim Cook, state commissioner for charities and corrections.

"Penitentiary officials have advised that they have no intention of getting rid of him," Cook said, "although many of people willing to adopt him."

Canteen Tom, Cook explained, is a cat who just "showed up" at the state prison in McAlester several years ago. Some recent publicity has brought in some contributions and even a supply of canned cat food.

But Cook said Tom, "being true to the old tradition of the lifer... prefers institutional chow."

Contract Signed

New York (AP) — U.S. Steel has signed a 30-year, 90-million ton contract to supply coal from a new mine to Ontario's Hydroelectric Power Commission.

Kissinger Returns; Arabs Expected To Turn On Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Arabs are expected to resume oil production at pre-October War levels when they lift their embargo against the United States, probably in about a week, authoritative sources said Monday night.

This assessment emerged as Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger returned from an 8-day trip to the Middle East and Europe.

Prices are likely to drop to about $7 a barrel from the current $11.65 and the supply will be plentiful newsmen were told.

Even $7 a barrel is considered to be somewhat high by U.S. experts but they are concerned that a lower price could discourage development of alternative energy sources.

The price before October's Arab-Israeli war was about $3.01 a barrel. Production has been cut about 25 per cent.

Kissinger and others in his entourage are saying nothing publicly about prospects for a lifting of the embargo and a resumption of full production. But there is virtually no doubt aboard his Air Force jet that the Arab oil ministers will come through when they meet in Libya next Sunday.

U.S. officials caution, meanwhile, that a joint approach with Europe, Japan and other consumers in energy development will remain essential. They say the Arabs could always choose to apply the squeeze again as a weapon against American policy in the Middle East.

said he had a firm deal for 30 million barrels of Saudi Arabian oil to be shipped each month for five years to the United States. Ballard said he had no direct dealings with Saudi Arabia, which has participated in the embargo, but had worked through a bank in Malaysia.

Ballard said the Malaysian bank had called him Monday and said Saudi Arabia had given clearance for the deal to go through about three weeks after contracts are signed. Ballard said he did not know how soon the contracts would be signed.

Kissinger's return also brought word from U.S. officials that he was the target of an apparent assassination attempt in Syria last week. These officials said the attempt to kill Kissinger was to have been made last Wednesday on his way to the Omayyad Mosque in Damascus's crowded market district.

It was understood that the plotters were Palestinian terrorists. The U.S. officials said that Kissinger, who did not learn of the plot until Friday night, had cancelled his visit to the mosque because his talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad ran longer than expected and he had to leave for Israel to keep to his schedule.

Kissinger's principal accomplishment on the trip was to set the stage for negotiations in Washington on a disengagement of Israeli and Syrian forces in the Golan Heights.

But now, with Israel in the midst of a political crisis, he is said to be concerned that his plans could become upset — particularly if a coalition government including the hard-line

Likud Party takes power quickly in Israel.

Israeli diplomatic and military representatives are due here in about two weeks, to be followed a week or two later by a Syrian group. But a senior American official said a new, national unity government in Jerusalem, should one be formed, would be likely to delay for several weeks more.

By then, he said, the Syrians could back out.

Kissinger believes the chances of a new coalition or another election in Israel are at least 50-50.

City Vote On Appointment To Planning Unit Delayed

Due mainly to the request of the Lancaster County Board, the City Council Monday held off action on Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf's latest appointment to the County-City Planning Commission.

Whether a joint meeting between all interested parties to discuss the matter will be held by next week was not determined Monday.

In a memorandum to the council and the mayor, the commissioners urged the delay, saying, "Surely an appointment of this importance should require consultation of and suggestions from the County Board."

The mayor has appointed contractor James Hacker to the post, replacing Gilbert Dietemyer, who resigned last fall.

Not Consulted

The commissioners also point out that they have not been consulted on reappointing or replacing three present planning commissioners whose terms have expired. They are Robert Allington, Art Duerschner and George David.

Said the commissioners, "We have had no communication regarding their reappointments, nor any invitation to participate in any discussion of the type of representation needed on the commission."

The commissioners emphasized they "could not ignore the fact that our only notification of an appointment to the joint Planning Commission was through a weekend article in the newspaper."

Under a joint agreement between the city and county, the mayor appoints the nine Planning Commission members, with the confirmation of both the City Council and County Board.

The council's vote to delay action one week to discuss the appointments was 5 to 1.

Councilman Dick Baker dissented, contending, "Whether we've talked to the County Board or not is not relevant."

Councilwoman Helen Boosalis summarized a letter she sent to Mayor Schwartzkopf last week asking for a delay on Hacker's appointment until certain other issues are resolved.

Emphasizing that she was not opposed to Hacker, Boosalis asked whether the city was departing from a previous, unwritten rule not to appoint a homebuilder, real estate agent or developer to the commission, since that person would have numerous conflicts of interest.

Second, Boosalis asked for a discussion of all four seats which are up for reappointment.

Third, Boosalis pointed out that all the commission members live south of O and represent one socio-economic group.

Boosalis and Councilwoman Sue Bailey asked if a joint meeting with the lawmakers, the mayor and County Board could be arranged.

Schwartzkopf's administrative assistant Mike Merwick said the mayor's office would be glad to supply additional information on the appointment, but said, "We're not going to meet with the County Board."

Northwest Community Group Names Officers, Makes Plans

The Northwest Lincoln Community Association (NLCA) at its annual meeting Monday night re-elected four board members and named three new members to two-year terms.

Incumbents re-elected include Gayle Carter, Elaine Hammer, James Mastera and Eugene Steel. New board members are Bob Kitchen, Gary Martin and Walter Mientka.

According to secretary-treasurer Moneta Mathews, NLCA will concentrate its work in the coming year on:

—Combating ordinances which would allow Superior Street to be zoned commercial.
—Building tennis courts near Goodrich Junior High School at 12th & Superior.

—Planting trees in Belmont Park at 14th & Superior, to replace dying trees.

—Implementing bus service from the Belmont area to Lincoln High School, which most northwest Lincoln students attend.

—And deciding whether to join the Coalition of Neighborhood Associations, sponsored by the Lincoln Department of Community Development (DCD).

NLCA, now with 22 members, was reactivated in November 1972, but group members now noted flagging interest except on crisis-oriented issues.

DCD Director Leo Scherer Jr. recommended that NLCA distribute a newsletter, form task forces to study needed improvements, identify neighborhood issues and support them, and offer a baby-sitting service on meeting nights—all to stimulate membership.

In other business, members voted to enter the Nebraska Community Improvement Program contest.

The NLCA board will meet March 13 to elect officers for 1974. The next general membership meeting, also open to interested persons, will be April 15, at 7:30 p.m. in Goodrich Junior High School.

$189,000 Is Suggested For Updating Of Plan

The City Council has received a proposed $189,000 contract from a Chicago consulting firm to conduct the updating of the Comprehensive Plan.

City Councilman Max Denney said Barton-Aschman Associates have made the offer and will complete the update in 18 months.

Barton-Aschman already is overseeing the redevelopment of the central business district under auspices of the Downtown Advisory Committee. The firm is being paid $84,000 for that effort.

Denney said another meeting will be held with the firm's representatives Wednesday to further examine the proposal.

Councilwoman Helen Boosalis said she wanted more detailed information on how the consultants plan to involve citizens in formulating the new plan.

Denney said he wanted a provision included in the contract penalizing the consultants if the work stretches beyond the 18-month deadline.

Tipoff: 7:35 p.m., NU Coliseum.

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

There's at least one person who doesn't consider Nebraska an easy winner Tuesday night against Colorado — Joe Cipriano.

"Don't think Colorado is just suddenly going to roll over and play dead because they don't have Scott Wedman," said the Husker basketball coach, whose NU squad closes its home campaign with a 7:35 p.m. test against Colorado at the NU Coliseum. "They've played well without him and they've already beaten us once."

The Buffaloes, have performed respectably without last year's all-Big Eight conference forward who suffered a severe ankle sprain during a 72-68 loss at Missouri on Feb. 23. In its first game without Wedman, CU dropped a close 69-61 decision at Iowa State. Then last Saturday, the 'Buffs were edged by league-leading Kansas, 70-68, at Boulder.

But the loss of the 6-7 senior has to hurt coach Sox Walseth's Coloradoans. He tallied 21 points as Colorado escaped Nebraska, 63-64, at Boulder three weeks ago.

Tom Novak

While Colorado enters the contest with a 4-9 league record and a 9-15 overall mark, the game is more important as Nebraska tries to win an NU Coliseum test for the final time for seniors Brendy Lee and Tom Novak.

Through the first 76 games of their NU careers, the two seniors have been on teams with a combined 36-40 record. However, Cipriano is quick to praise his two seniors.

"These two seniors have stayed in there when a lot of times it was tough for them," he said. "Regardless of whether they were on the first or second teams they played as hard as they could."

"In order for the club to be successful, they accepted their roles," he added. "Anytime you have players acting like that it has to make someone enjoy coaching."

Novak, who has started all 12 of Nebraska's Big Eight games, is the team's second-leading scorer, averaging 8.8 points-per-league game. He is second in playmaking with 34 assists.

Lee, the team rebounding leader with a 7.9 average, is the Huskers' top assist-getter with 47. His high-game this season was a 14-point effort in a 91-88 triple-overtime victory at the NU Coliseum against Iowa State.

While the Huskers are coming off an unexpected 58-54 victory at Manhattan, Kan., on Saturday against previously league-leading Kansas State, Kansas coach Ted Owens may have been a prophet in his comments on Wednesday's Kansas-Kansas State match at Lawrence.

"I felt against Nebraska that the pressure of the conference race may have affected us (in a 51-46 victory last Tuesday night over the Huskers in Lincoln)," said Owens. "But at the same time, I've got to give the players a tremendous amount of credit for having in them what it took to win, particularly in view of the fact that it was a road game against a team I think is probably playing about as well as both Kansas and Kansas State at the moment."

And Owens said that BEFORE — repeat before — Nebraska's win at Kansas State.

So the Huskers, with a 6-6 record in Big Eight play and a 13-11 record overall, need a win to insure a winning season. NU closes the campaign with a regionally-televised Saturday afternoon (1:10 p.m.) game at Iowa State.

Series Records

With victories in the last four games, Colorado holds a 42-27 lead in the series. However, in the 27 games played at the NU Coliseum, Nebraska holds a 19-8 record. Cipriano is 10-16 overall at Nebraska against the Buffaloes.

Auburn, Neb. City Prevail

By FRANK HOPPE
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska City — Nebraska City swept past Waverly, 62-51, while the Auburn Bulldogs romped over Falls City, 63-35, in District B-1 quarterfinal action here Monday night.

The Pioneers jumped out to an 18-10 first-quarter lead and stretched it to 36-25 at halftime. Seventy per cent shooting by Lowell Copenhaver made the difference for Nebraska City as he hit 16 of his game-high 20 points in the first half.

Waverly played the Pioneers even in the second half but couldn't muster a rally. Both teams scored 26 points.

Bob DeVors hit 14 and Steve Braye hit 12 for coach Larry Moore's Pioneers while Ed VandeHoeft led the Vikings with 18.

In the second game, the Bulldogs of Auburn used a tight man-to-man defense in eliminating Falls City.

Denis Lessor had the hot hand as he notched 14 points on seven attempts in the first half for a 100 percent average from the floor.

Lessor's shooting a vicious Bulldog defense, which held Falls City scoreless for more than 10 minutes including the entire second quarter, accounted for a 26-9 halftime advantage.

Auburn coach Larry Dankenbring played Lessor sparingly in the second half, but the damage had already been done.

Dru Lammie took up the slack for Auburn and scored eight of his 10 points in the second half as the Bulldogs went on to win, 63-35.

The Bulldogs had met Falls City twice during the regular season and had beaten them both times so the win Monday night was no surprise to coach Dankenbring.

"Nebraska City will be harder to beat," Dankenbring said, referring to their semifinal game here Thursday night. "They (Nebraska City) looked a little complacent tonight against Waverly but they'll play their good brand of ball against us. They always do."

But Dankenbring's team will treat the Pioneers the same as any other team.

"We'll stick to our man-to-man defense and overplay their guards. The kids have confidence in the defense and we think we can win with it," he continued.

HASTINGS HITS DOANE

Thomas Sparks Broncos

Special To The Star

Hastings — Hastings College used superior scoring depth to overcome upset-minded Doane, 77-72, here Monday night in the second game of the District 11 NAIA playoffs.

With its back against the wall after losing the first game of the best of three series, 77-75, in Crete Saturday, Hastings had six players score in double figures to send the series into the deciding third contest Tuesday night.

Coach Lynn Farrell's Broncos needed all the scoring depth they could muster to overcome the superb performance of Doane's Herb Cousins and a ball hawking Tiger defense.

Cousins, who scored 29 points in Doane's victory Saturday, came back with 28 points Monday in addition to grabbing 11 rebounds as Doane out-rebounded Hastings by a healthy 48-37 margin.

"We still didn't get the job done on the boards," Farrell said. "We're pleased with the win, but we have to have more players who want to get in there and scrap for those rebounds."

Hamersky To Miss Bolts' District Opener?

By RANDY YORK
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln Pius X has been winding up all season for the district basketball tournament, but unwound a bit Monday morning when starting guard Jim Hamersky missed school because of a throat infection.

"We're going to have to get a lift from our bench. We don't know how long 'Hammer' will be out," Pius X coach Don Kelley said.

The Thunderbolts open their bid for a repeat trip to the state basketball tournament in Lincoln Mar. 14-15-16 Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. against Ashland at Nebraska City.

Pius X is in a decidedly different position than it was at this same time last year. "I see we're favored now," acknowledges Kelley. "We can't sneak up on people like we did last year."

Last March, the Thunderbolts owned an unimpressive 7-12 record, entering district competition before going on to advance to the state Class B semifinals.

"It's a bigger challenge this year. There's the additional pressure of a rating and the other teams have more incentive to beat you," according to Kelley. "We've been scouted numerous times this year by people in our district. That didn't happen last year."

With Pius X No. 5 in the Sunday Journal and Star ratings, Nebraska City No. 10 and Plattsmouth a foremost ratings candidate, Kelley believes "our district is the second toughest Class B district in the state behind Kearney's."

Kelley hopes Pius X's 10-point win over Lincoln High over the weekend is a significant momentum factor for his team in district play.

"It was important for us to close our regular season in good fashion. It should help us for season No. 2 at district. We look at the two challenges separately," offers Kelley.

The Pius X coach also hopes a rugged regular season schedule will be beneficial for the rigors of district.

"I don't think anyone played

After Hastings managed a 31-30 lead at halftime following an error-prone first half, Doane roared back to grab a 38-33 lead with Cousins and forward Mike Rehn leading the way.

"Cousins almost killed us again like he did down at Crete Saturday," Farrell said. "He not only shot well, but worked the boards for several key rebounds."

Junior Pat Sitorius finally got the Broncos untracked, as he hit three straight field goals from the top of the key to boost Hastings to a 45-43 advantage with 12:30 left in the game.

Although Doane managed to tie the score at 51-41 with 9:20 left behind Cousins, who scored 20 of his 28 points in the second half, the Tigers were unable to resume their lead.

After Sitorius' outburst, Hastings returned to its normal balanced scoring attack with Mike Trader Paul Thomas, Brad Schneider, Kurt McKeone and Sitorius' older brother Mike doing the damage.

"We've had several games this season when seven or eight of our players were in double figures," Farrell recalled. "So

Creighton Falts, 78-69

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Sharp-shooting by Brian Winters and Nate Davis led 10th ranked South Carolina to a 78-69 basketball victory over 19th ranked Creighton Monday night.

The Gamecocks, finishing regular season play with 22-4, established a 10-point lead in the first half and repulsed several Creighton comeback attempts after halftime.

NIT Begins Choosing Teams

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven more schools—including Maryland-Eastern Shore and last week's upset victor over 11th-ranked Marquette, Cincinnati—have accepted berths in the National Invitation Tournament, the NIT committee announced Monday.

"We've got it, we've got it," cheered an exuberant John Bates, coach of Maryland-Eastern Shore, at 26-1 the winningest college basketball team in the nation.

"It's a great feeling," said Bates, whose team is an NAIA member but decided this year to participate in the NIT rather than the NAIA regionals. "This is what we've been after. This campus is in a state of bedlam."

It's the first time the school has been to the NIT.

Others accepting bids to the post-season tournament at Madison Square Garden March 16-24 were Rutgers, 18-7; Utah, 19-7; Boston College 18-8; Fairfield, 17-8, and Connecticut, 187, said Ken Norton, vice president of the NIT committee and athletic director at Manhattan College.

Cincinnati, 19-7, defeated then eighth-ranked Marquette 92-77 Saturday to clinch its invitation to the NIT. The Bearcats, who also have beaten No. 18 Louisville twice this year, are led by 6-foot-5 Lloyd Batts, who is averaging 21 points a game.

Batts' brother, Boyd, is a starter for the University of Hawaii, one of four teams picked earlier to compete at the NIT. The other earlier selections were St. John's, N.Y., Manhattan and Massachusetts.

Five more teams will be named later, filling out the 16-team contingent to compete in the tourney.

Rutgers, making its fourth NIT appearance, is led by 6-5 sophomore Phil Sellers of Brooklyn, N.Y., who is averaging 23 points a game. Sellers was the Most Valuable Player in the All-College Tournament.

Utah, making its seventh NIT bid, is averaging 90 points a game, with sophomore guard Luther Burden contributing 22 of them.

The Boston College Eagles, who have not been to the NIT since 1969 when they finished second, are led by 6-6 sophomore Bob Carrington, who averages 20 points a game.

Fairfield is making its second consecutive NIT appearance, while cross-state rival Connecticut has not appeared at the tournament since 1955.

Connecticut Coach Donald "Dee" Rowe says the invitation is "the beginning of the culmination of a lifetime dream for me."

"I have been in basketball as a player and coach for more than 30 years and have always dreamed of receiving the opportunity to participate in a national tournament," Rowe said.

York—Centennial's Jerry Cain hit one of two free throws with five seconds left to give the Broncos a 62-61 victory over the Norris Titans in the second game of the B-5 District Basketball Tourney here Monday night.

In the night's opener, Steve Yost lead the Crete Cardinals with 31 points as they downed Superior 74-58.

Centennial led Norris 32-29 at the half, but the Titans quickly grabbed the lead in the opening minutes of the third quarter, behind the hot shooting of Rod Jasa.

With Norris leading 48-44 going into the final quarter, Centennial Tim Pozehl fired three unanswered buckets to tie the game at 50-50 with 6:40 to play.

Norris regained the lead with 4:17 left on a freethrow by Forrest DeVries.

But Wayne Zima, who scored 16 points in the first half, hit three baskets in a row to give Centennial a 59-55 lead at the 2:50 mark of the fourth quarter. Norris' Dan Schaepe then hit two straight 20-footers bringing the crowd to their feet to tie the game at 59-59.

Jan Jasa scored on a lay-up to give Norris a 61-59 lead and it appeared as though the Titans were finally going to bump off Centennial after two losses to them earlier this year.

But with 1:04 left Centennial's Zima hit 2-for-2 at the line, tying the game once again.

Then with five seconds left DeVries fouled out of the game bringing the Broncos' 6-6 Cain to the line where he scored the winning point.

Crete and Superior played an even first-quarter with the Cardinals grabbing a four-point advantage that blossomed into a 37-21 lead at the four-minute mark in the second quarter.

Superior managed to hold Crete to a 43-29 halftime lead. But returning to the floor for the third quarter, it soon felt the sting of the Cardinals' cold defense and hot shooting, as Crete soared to a 63-43 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Crete's Yost grabbed 17 rebounds and accounted for numerous steals and blocked-shots to stymie the Wildcats' attempt at a rally.

Superior never got closer to the top-seeded Cardinals than 16 points in the final three minutes.

Crete will meet Centennial Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the York Auditorium in a semifinal game.

Ellis Draws With Middleton

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — Underdog Larry Middleton finished strongly, but managed only a draw with Jimmy Ellis Monday night in a 10-round heavyweight bout at the Capital Centre.

The decision was unpopular with the crowd of 5,126, and many supporters of Middleton, from nearby Baltimore, booed lustily.

Ellis, a former World Boxing Association champion, bled from the nose the last two rounds

Track Scores U.S. Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — Track Coach Roy Chernock, back home following last weekend's indoor meet against the Russians, isn't sure which was scarier... his first look at the facility on which the American team had to perform or his near detention by Soviet police.

"It was the ghastly awful track I ever saw," Chernock said Monday. "It was a three-lane, 200-meter track with 90-yard straightaways and unbelievably tight turns of maybe 25 yards. It was a fine training facility, but no place to hold a meet.

The Americans lost the third annual dual meet against the Soviets 158-124 and Chernock believes his team was beaten by the track every bit as much as by their opponents.

"The Russians played that track like a musical instrument. They gave us a lesson in tactics in every event," said Chernock, who also coaches small Baruch College in New York City.

Hawaii Post To Price

HONOLULU (AP) — Larry Price was selected Monday as the new head football coach at the University of Hawaii, where he has served as an assistant coach for nine years.

Price, 39, a former star lineman for the Hawaii Rainbows, succeeds Dave Holmes, who resigned last month. Holmes will return to coaching high school football in Spokane, Wash.

University President Harlan Cleveland said he picked Price on the basis of Athletic Director Paul Durham's recommendation and Price's selection by a screening committee.

Price and two other candidates, Southern California assistant coach and assistant athletic director Dave Levy and Washington assistant coach Bob Schloredt, were the final prospects from a list of 15 applicants, the school said.

They were interviewed by the faculty-student screening committee over the weekend.

Price became defensive coordinator in 1969 under Holmes.

Adams Propels Sooners

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma center Alvin Adams' 29 points lifted the Sooners to an easy 97-80 victory over Missouri here Monday night in a Big Eight collegiate basketball game.

The Sooners led by as many as nine points in the first half and spurred to a 23-point spread after the Tigers had knotted the halftime score at 40-40.

The Sooners were hurt late in the second half when Tom Holland fouled out and then was handed three technicals for saying something to the referee.

The Tigers' Jim Kennedy missed the first of a one-and-one free throw situation and Al Eberhard then hit three out of the four shots allowed on the technicals.

But the main differences in the game were the Sooners' domination of the boards—Adams had 15 rebounds and Ted Evans 14—and their torrid shooting from both the free throw line, 72.9 per cent, and the field, 56.5 per cent.

Top Clubs Seeking Victories

By The Associated Press
Four of the top six teams in the weekly Associated Press college basketball poll will be vying this weekend for a berth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament, including top-ranked North Carolina State.

The nation's No. 1 team already has clinched the Atlantic Coast Conference title, but must work its way past the likes of No. 4 Maryland and No. 6 North Carolina in a three-day tournament in Greensboro, N.C., beginning Thursday.

And third-ranked UCLA, which usually breezes into the playoffs not only as the undisputed winner of the Pacific-8 crown but also as No. 1 team in the nation, will have to battle seventh-ranked Southern Cal this weekend to determine the conference representative in the NCAA.

That leaves only Notre Dame, atop the independent ranks and No. 2 in the AP poll, Southeastern Conference champion Vanderbilt, ranked fifth, as sure bets among the top six teams for post-season play. Both will be competing in the Midwest Regional at Indiana State University in Terre Haute.

North Carolina State, 24-1 after beating two ACC rivals — North Carolina and Wake Forest — last week, retained its No. 1 ranking Monday with 25 first-place votes and 770 points.

The nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters gave Notre Dame 15 top votes and only 20 fewer points than N.C. State, while UCLA was favored on only one ballot but garnered 658 points.

The Irish are 24-1 after triumphs over Ball State and Villanova, and UCLA is 22-3 after beating California and Stanford.

MILWAUKEE (AP) —

Lucius Allen scored eight points and made two steals in the last 5:13, rallying the Milwaukee Bucks to a 109-103 National Basketball Association victory over the Kansas City-Omaha Kings Monday night.

The Kings, down by 12 points late in the third quarter, rallied behind Jimmy Walker and Ron Behagen and took a 93-90 lead with 5:56 to play. The score was tied three times after that, the last at 99-99 with 2:32 left.

Allen broke the tie with a basket, then blocked a shot by Walker and stole the ball. A hook shot by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar gave the Bucks a 103-99 lead.

Oscar Robertson followed with four consecutive free throws, the first pair after another Allen steal, putting the Bucks ahead 107-101 with 28 seconds to play.

Palmer's Thede Earns Prep Player Citation

By RANDY YORK

Prep Sports Writer

Remember Palmer's Russell Thede? He's the one who gained state-wide basketball recognition as a sophomore two years ago, earning a spot on the Class D all-state tournament teams.

Although he missed a first team all-state berth last year as a junior, Thede is making an impressive bid for such recognition this winter.

For his most recent efforts in a district tournament final against rated Petersburg, Thede earns the Sunday Journal and Star prep Player of the Week award.

Despite a defense geared heavily toward him, Thede hit 12 of 18 field goals and 6 of 9 free throws for 30 points, grabbed 20 rebounds and blocked six shots against a team which had won 15 of 16 games.

"They (Petersburg) had two and three guys on him the whole game," notes Palmer coach Bob Sixel, whose second-rated Class D club faces Polk Thursday in a regional playoff to determine a state tournament qualifying berth.

"They even had a guard sagging into him, but he did a great job of shooting a turn-around jumper," according to Sixel. "He doesn't get too many 1-on-1 situations, but he makes the most of what he gets."

Thede's impressive performance in Palmer's 60-45 win over Petersburg pushed his career scoring total over the 1,200-point plateau.

Thede scored 483 points as a sophomore when Palmer finished state Class D runnerup. He scored 373 as a junior and 352 this season in Palmer's 18-1 showing.

Sunday Racing Still In Doubt

By United Press International

A bill to permit horse racing on Sundays survived a kill attempt in the Legislature Monday but could not generate enough support for first-round approval.

The measure, LB692, was sponsored by Sen. John Murphy and is aimed mainly at giving a financial boost to the Atokad race track in Murphy's hometown, South Sioux City.

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway offered the kill motion, arguing that one day of the week ought to be left undisturbed as a family day. Furthermore, he said, if Atokad cannot promote horse racing well enough on days now assigned to it by the State Racing Commission, it should not propose Sunday racing to bail it out of its economic problems.

But his motion went down on a 20-22 ballot.

Murphy's request for preliminary approval needed 25 supporting ballots but fell four short. Twenty-two senators voted against advancement.

Murphy said the South Sioux City track paid the state more than $214,000 in taxes last year in addition to other miscellaneous taxes but had less than $40,000 in receipts for its own operations.

To the argument that Sunday should be set aside more for the observance of religious activities, Murphy jokingly responded that "there probably are more prayers offered up when horses come around the turn" on the home stretches of races than at any other time.

On a more serious note, he said he did not believe Sunday racing would be a detriment to religious observances and noted that the constitutional amendment authorizing racing in

Sites Finalized For Regionals

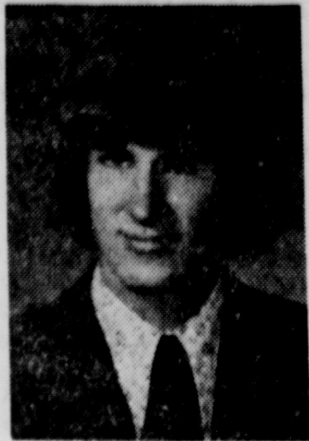

Three high school regional basketball playoff sites and dates — two in Class C and one Class D — were determined Monday.

Centura and Sandy Creek will play Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in a Class C regional at Grand Island Senior High.

Palmyra and Yutan also decided to play their Class C regional Wednesday. They will battle at Nebraska Wesleyan's Ira Taylor Gym, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Trenton and Farnam agreed to play their Class D regional playoff Friday at 7:30 p.m. at McCook High School.

Winners from each of 16 lower class regionals qualify for the state basketball tournament in Lincoln March 14-15-16.

Russ Thede Palmer Standout

His 17.8 rebounding average almost matches his 19.6 scoring average. And, according to Sixel, Thede "has really been tough the last part of the season. Our kids are really anxious to get down there (Lincoln) for the state tournament again."

Others who'll receive Player of the Week cards include:

Bob Otto, Lincoln Northeast — Senior forward hit 11 of 16 shots enroute to 24-point, 11-rebound performance in Rockets' 62-43 win over Ralston.

Jim Mamerky, Lincoln Plus X — His nine field goals, mostly from long range, punctured Lincoln High's zone defense to help Thunderbolts score 53-43 win.

Mike Niemeyer, Wilber — Hit 19 points, including important final free throw, in Wolverines' 66-63 district championship win over Tri-County.

Doug Kucera, Pleasanton — Six-six Class D all-stater harvested 44 points — including 33 in the second half — collected 26 rebounds and blocked seven shots as team averaged 10 earlier defeats to Litchfield in 76-59 district final victory.

Roger Carlstrom, Polk — Hit 20 points against Marquette, 14 against Benedict and 27 against Clark as team swept to Class D district title.

Bob Nicklasson, St. Edward — Six-two sophomore scored 20 points, grabbed 14 rebounds and hit winning field goal with three seconds remaining in team's 46-44 Class C district final win over Genoa.

Nebraska did not outlaw such activity on Sundays.

He stressed his measure would "permit" Sunday races if the Racing Commission approved and that other tracks could also apply for the privilege.

Many working people, Murphy added, find it difficult to get to the track on Weekdays. Horse racing is a great spectator sport, the South Sioux City lawmaker said, adding that it is "less violent" than some other sports such as football and hockey.

He said projections are that the state will reap more than $5 million in racing taxes this year and if Sunday racing were approved, another $500,000 could be realized.

Among the objectors was Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa who said that "historically" an attempt has always been made to keep one day of the week for rest. He said Sunday races "would lower the quality of living."

Later, while responding to a question, Nore said: "I believe in the old blue laws of colonial days. That's what made our country great."

Since there was not enough strength to either kill the bill or advance it, it remained on general file — the first point for floor debate in the unicameral.

Fort Still Ranks 4th

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sophomore Alvan Adams of Oklahoma seems almost certain to win the Big Eight Conference basketball scoring race unless he falters in the Sooners' final three games this week.

Adams takes a 20.4-point average into this last week of the regular season, having scored 201 field goals and 68 free throws for a total of 470 points.

Scott Wedman, the Colorado star, remains in second place with a 20-point average but is sidelined for the remainder of the season. He is on crutches with a sprained ankle.

The scoring leaders:

Dan Mussmann, Fremont — His 20 points and solid rebounding effort enabled Tigers to record 58-53 win over North Platte in Big 10 Conference playoff.

Doug Sweeney, Aurora — Junior forward hit 24 points and nine first half field goals in Huskies' impressive 101-67 coast past Grand Island Northwest.

Randy Kempkes, Palmyra — His steady diet of scoring, rebounding and defense was significant factor in team's push to Class C district championship and school's possible first state tournament entry in 20 years.

Kenny Newman, Adams — Senior guard popped in 11 of 18 shots, including 10 third quarter points, to lead Hornets to fourth straight district title, 70-58, over Filley.

Curt Hedberg, Lincoln East — Spartan center dominated all phases in playing likely his best game of the season in East's rout of Hastings.

Dave Christensen, Raymond Central — Five-nine guard's 24 points rattled Henderson's highly-touted defense in Central's 65-63 district final win over Huskies.

Dale Klute, Hampton — His scoring and leadership were highly instrumental in Hawks' recording 50th straight victory and district championship last week.

King Quits Tigers

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Missouri basketball coach Norm Stewart said Monday Kevin King "was influenced from outside" in his decision to quit the Tiger team.

King, a 6-foot-2 sophomore guard who had played in all 24 Missouri games and started most of them, announced his quitting Sunday. He cited a personality conflict with Stewart.

In a statement issued at Norman, Okla., where the Tigers were playing Oklahoma Monday night, Stewart said King "evidently could not obtain the goals he set for himself or that had been set for him."

"He was influenced from the outside, which has been one of our problems all year," Stewart did not elaborate on the charge of outside influence.

The Tigers had been expected to challenge for the Big Eight Conference basketball title again this season after finishing runner-up the past two years but had slipped to a dismal 3-8 league record and 12-11 over-all mark going into Monday night's action. Missouri was seventh in the conference with three games to play.

King, a St. Louis product who lettered as a freshman, was averaging 7.3 points per game. "The fact that he was shooting 39 per cent from the field and was leading the team in errors lessened his playing time," Stewart said of King.

"It seemed his actions and reactions were influenced by the amount of time he played in games rather than by how the team was performing. His latest action seems to verify that."

"In no way do we hold him personally responsible for our lack of success in the conference," King indicated he may transfer to another school after this school year.

Aaron's 714th Topic of Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn met with Atlanta Braves owner B. B. Bartholomay Monday morning, and the topic of discussion was believed to be the Hank Aaron affair.

A spokesman for the commissioner confirmed that a meeting had taken place, but would not say what was discussed.

"The commissioner met with Mr. Bartholomay this morning," the spokesman said Monday. "The commissioner does not have any further comment at this time."

Kuhn has expressed his displeasure with the Braves' announced plans to have Aaron sit out Atlanta's season-opening series in Cincinnati in order to increase his chances of breaking Babe Ruth's career home run record before a hometown crowd. Aaron has 713, one short of Ruth's career mark of 714.

JFK To Host Tourney

Omaha (UPI) — John F. Kennedy College will again host the Women's International Basketball Tournament here in January 1975, the college announced Monday.

College President Ted Dillow said at a press conference that this year's tourney, the first sponsored by J.F.K., netted an unexpected $200 for the college.

"We in retrospect, we're very pleased with the tournament. We went into it thinking we'd have to bite the bullet," Dillow said. "Now it appears that from our ticket sales, advertising, and banquet we came out $200 in the black."

The Kennedy College Patriettes defeated the Mexican National Team in January for the tournament crown.

J.F.K. Dean Lloyd Herbener, who handled the mechanics of the tourney, said that next year's event was scheduled for Jan. 10, 11, and 12.

The participants have not been determined, he said, but the college "fully intends" to ask the Mexican National Team to return to Omaha.

"We don't at this time know who we'll invite, but we'd like to get a European team to come, possibly France. They're rated something like fourth in the world. We'd like to ask the Russians to come... but they're pretty tough to get," Herbener said.

Herbener noted some possible changes in the 1975 format.

The possibilities include playing double headers in the four team tournament, instead of an afternoon and evening single sessions, or, inviting local high school and college women's teams to play as "curtain raisers" to the international competition.

Omaha Civic Auditorium Manager Charlie Mancuso said it cost Kennedy College $13,000 to stage the 1974 women's invitational.

Jr. Olympic Meets Set

If Nebraska high school wrestlers would like to compete this summer in the National Junior Olympic Wrestling Tournament in Lincoln, they must participate in AAU-sponsored district and state Junior Olympic events.

Lincoln East wrestling coach Jim Holechek reminds those interested that this week is the deadline for district tournaments Saturday at Kearney, Columbus and Papillion.

Alliance will host a district meet March 16 with Boys Town and Lincoln High hosting Junior Olympic districts March 17. The state Junior Olympic tournament is March 23-24 at Lincoln East.

"All high school wrestling coaches in the state have received copies of entry forms for the districts," according to Holechek.

The East mat coach says entering the district meets are important from two standpoints: (1) a wrestler must place in the state meet to qualify for the national meet; and (2) Nebraska will select wrestlers to tour Romania and Germany this summer. Both trips are in the negotiating stage and Junior Olympic standouts would rate high priority for a position on the team.

Junior Olympic competition is divided in five categories: ages 8 and under; 9 and 10; 11 and 12; 13 and 14; and 15 through 18.

Persons to contact at various district sites are Tom Cann at Kearney, Lannie Neese at Kearney, Mel Melcher at Papillion, Boyd Blomkamp at Alliance and Holechek or Newt Copple in Lincoln.

Matthews Signs Giants' Pact

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants signed National League Rookie of the Year Gary Matthews to a 1974 contract Monday, leaving Garry Maddox as the only unsigned player on the team's 34-man roster.

Giants executive Jerry Donovan refused to disclose the terms of the contract with Matthews, who made $17,000 last year while hitting .300. The Giants' last announced salary offer was $34,000, compared to Matthews last demand of $39,000.

New York (UPI) — UCLA, though probably halted in its effort to repeat as the regular season national champion, proved Monday it still has a firm grip on the individual talent pool by placing two players — Bill Walton and Keith Wilkes — on the 1973-74 United Press international all-America major college basketball team.

The Bruin seniors, whose combined talents have accounted for 82 victories in 85 games over three seasons, are joined on the first team by junior David Thompson of North Carolina State, Junior John Shumate of Notre Dame and senior Marvin Barnes of Providence.

It marked the third year in a row the 6-11 Walton has gained first-team all-America honors while the 6-4 Thompson is also a repeat selection from last year. Walton is only the seventh player in the 26-year history of the UPI all-America team to gain first-team honors for three straight seasons.

In a balloting of 241 sports writers and sportscasters across the nation, Walton was far and away the top vote-getter. The big redhead collected 478 points out of a possible 482, and he is the only player ever to emerge as the top vote-getter for three successive seasons.

In determining total points, voters were asked to pick a first and second team all-America. Two points were awarded a player named to the first team and one point given for second team mention. Walton was named to the first team on all but four of the 241 ballots cast.

Tom Kelley teamed with Bob Cronican for a 1,242 scratch to replace Vince O. Kelley and his teammate, Bill Lampman.

squad for the third year in a row. Walton joins Tom Gola of LaSalle (1953-55), Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati (1958-60), Jerry Lucas of Ohio State (19-68-70) and Calvin Murphy of Niagara (1968-70) as the only players to have accomplished that feat.

Wilkes, a 6-7 forward from Santa Barbara, Calif., enjoyed perhaps his finest season as the perfect complement to Walton. The lanky senior, who earned the nickname "Silky" because of his smoothness and grace on the court, averaged 16.6 points and 6.6 rebounds per game and was among the nation's leading free throw shooters with an 86 per cent accuracy.

A second team all-America choice as a junior, Wilkes emerged from the shadow of Walton with a spectacular performance in UCLA's victory over North Carolina State on national television last December. In that game, Wilkes scored 27 points and held State's Thompson to 17.

Thompson's performance against the bruins was one of the rare subpar games the 6-4 junior from Shelby, N.C., has suffered in his two years of varsity competition. Most of the time, Thompson was devastating as evidenced by this 26-point-per game scoring average.

Thompson, named the ACC's player of the year for the second straight season, performed at his best against ACC-rival Maryland, averaging 40 points in two contests against the Terps. Thompson hit a career high 41 points in State's nationally-televized victory over Maryland at Raleigh, N.C.

Shumate, who came into his own at the end of last season when he was named the most valuable player in the nit, was the leading scorer and top rebounder for Notre Dame this season. The 6-9 junior from Elizabeth, N.J., average 23.2 ppg and connected on 62 per cent of his field goal attempts in leading the Irish to a no. 2 national ranking.

Shumate, a rugged 235-pounder, was at his best in Notre Dame's two games with UCLA. He had 24 points when the Irish snapped the Bruins' 88-game winning streak at South Bend, Ind., on Jan. 19 and he tallied 25 points in the rematch won by the Bruins in Los Angeles.

Barnes, a third-team all-America a year ago when he teamed with Ernie DiGregorio and Stacom to lead the Friars to fourth place finish in the NCAA championships, emerged as the nation's leading rebounder this season with an average of better than 18 retrieves a game. The 6-9 senior from Providence, R.I., also averaged better than 21 points a game.

Fertilizer Shortage Said 'Serious'

Tuesday, March 5, 1974 The Lincoln Star 21

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

Members of the Nebraska Agribusiness Club were told Monday that the fertilizer shortage is real and that transportation problems would make a bad problem worse.

Dr. Don Sander, soil specialist at the University of Nebraska, said "The farmers are just beginning to discover how serious the problem is. I don't think they really believed it until they started going to talk about getting delivery in the last week or so."

Sander blamed the shortage on a combination of government controls that discouraged expansion of fertilizer production, the shortage of natural gas to make nitrogen and an expansion of acreage by the Department of Agriculture.

"The ending of controls in October and the announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz came too late for the fertilizer industry to cope with. We can expect to have shortages for at least two years," he said.

Losing Money
Sander noted that the Cost of Living Council had set fertilizer prices for the industry on a three-year base of 1968, '69 and '70, three years when the industry was losing millions of dollars. "They are good businessmen and were not about to expand when they knew they must lose money under the price control system," he said.

Sander estimated the shortfall in overall fertilizer supplies at 10% of the demand, with the largest shortage in nitrogen fertilizers used by farmers to boost corn and milo production.

"Transportation is a major problem. We probably will have some people getting all they need and others getting none at all. Irrigators, particularly those with new center pivot systems, will find additional supplies they need most difficult to obtain," he predicted.

Sander noted that fall fertilizer use was up 75% due to a rapid expansion of wheat fertilization attributed to $5.00 bushel wheat prices.

"The inventory of fertilizers has been declining each month since January of 1973 to the point that it is either extremely low or non-existent. We have been living on the inventories built up during unprofitable years for the industry," he said.

Late Delivery
Sander suggested the 80% of need supply figures that are reported by government statisticians are based on fertilizer that can't be delivered until September. "A corn farmer needs that fertilizer by June or it isn't going to do him a lot of good," he said.

Sander noted reports of black market supplies available outside of normal supply channels, but said that not even black market supplies were available in some areas.

Sander said that the president of W.R. Grace, a worldwide agribusiness firm, has expressed a very pessimistic view of the future of fertilizer and prices of farm products unless oil prices are reduced.

"He said that the high oil prices could result in a complete economic collapse of the world financial system. It could mean an end of grain-fed beef for the American consumer," Sander suggested.

Minature Plans School Closing

Minature (AP) — The Minature school system will be closed Tuesday and Wednesday because of absences attributed to flu. Superintendent Murray Collins announced.

State's Wheat Crop Said In Good Shape

Nebraska's wheat came through the winter in good condition except for problems with downy brome grass in the Panhandle, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Monday.

"Some blowing has occurred in wheat fields, but is not a major problem," the bureau said. "Moisture supplies are adequate even though there was little precipitation during the last month."

Weather conditions during February were excellent for livestock, it was pointed out. The open weather has allowed maximum utilization of corn stalks and has lessened the need for feeding hay.

The open weather has resulted in good to excellent calf and lamb crops with below normal losses due to weather and disease, according to the ag officials.

"Farmers and feeders are reluctant to place cattle on feed due to the current price situation of cattle and grain," the report stated.

Where transportation facilities were available, movement of grain from farms to market was quite active during the past month, it was reported.

Kansas City Board Picks 17 Elevators

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Board of Trade has designated 17 more elevators in Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas as delivery points for the new Gulf wheat futures contract which it hopes to inaugurate on April 1.

Its proposal to start trading in the export futures contract is under consideration by the Commodity Exchange Authority.

The designation of 34 elevators, the first 17 of them in the Kansas City metropolitan area, will provide potential storage for 250 million bushels of wheat changing hands in this futures trading.

The newly designated elevators:

Garvey Elevators Inc., at Hutchinson, Kan., and Hastings, Neb.; Far-Mar-Co. Inc. at Hutchinson, Wichita, St. Joseph, Omaha and Lincoln; Continental Grain Co. at Hutchinson, Enid, Okla., and Fort Worth; Ross Industries Inc. and Garvey Grain Inc. at Wichita; Morrison Grain Co., Salina, Kan.; Bunge Corp. and Producers Grain Corp. at Fort Worth; Union Equity Cooperative Exchange, Enid; and ConAgra Inc. at Omaha.

Proud, Nixon Talk Is Reset

Omaha (AP) — State Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha, speaker of the Nebraska legislature, was informed Monday his meeting with President Nixon had been postponed from Tuesday until Thursday.

Proud will meet with the President to communicate the legislature's views on fuel shortages, speed limits and other matters.

He said he received a call Monday from presidential aide James Falk saying the meeting had been postponed.

Proud said Falk told him the President's schedule for the week is finalized on Sunday "and because of other things he just couldn't make it this Tuesday but would make it for Thursday."

BUDGET . . . created by Fay and Mrs. Richardson, as Cara, 3, and Mrs. Clinch observe.

Problem Of Overdue Gas Bill Solved

By JOEL THORSON
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Grand Island — Winter can be a hard time of year for a mother of six trying to support her family on ADC and child support payments.

With holiday expenses and home heating bills at their seasonal high, some of Mrs. Jenny Richardson's child support payments failed to arrive. It took awhile for her ADC payment to be adjusted to compensate for the loss of income.

In the meantime, Mrs. Richardson simply couldn't make ends meet.

Before long, she had run up $79 in arrears on her gas bill. As it sometimes must, the gas company notified her that her gas would be shut off if she didn't pay.

Then a representative of the Platte Valley Community Action Agency (PVCAA) stepped into the picture.

Budget Worked Out
Explaining that she was not a bill collector and only wanted to prevent the gas shutoff, PVCAA outreach worker Mrs. Marian Clinch persuaded Mrs. Richardson to visit Northwestern Public Service's accounting department.

Chief accountant Mickey Gleason or assistant John Fay would help her work out a budget, Mrs. Clinch said.

The repayment program was worked out to everybody's satisfaction, and Mrs. Richardson kept her home heated.

"I pay as much as I possibly can till I get paid up," said Mrs. Richardson. "I should be able to get caught up pretty easy now that it's warmer."

Next June, when Northwestern Public Service institutes a year-round bill-averaging system, Mrs. Richardson (and everybody else) will start paying the same amount every month, so she knows what to expect. At the end of the year, she may be eligible for a refund.

'Real Rewarding'

"This was real rewarding. I just felt great," said Mrs. Clinch. She has served as a communication link between the gas company and some 40 shutoff-threatened families since the PVCAA initiated its energy program for low-income people about a month ago.

So far, she said, no one has reneged on their payments, and no one's gas has been shut off. "Some of them were going to be shut off that very day," she added.

Gleason is equally pleased. "The last thing I want to do is shut somebody's gas off," he said. "That really bothers me more than anything."

"If people have problems low-income or not, all they have to do is come in and see me," Gleason said. "But they have to follow through with it. I stress that they come in and see me every month. And I want complete honesty."

Won't Come To Door

The problem, according to PVCAA energy officer Mrs. Jan Rojewski, is often a mingling of pride and fear which prevents some debt-ridden low-income people from answering the door — for fear that it's a bill collector.

"People aren't trying to get out of paying their bills," she said. "They're just afraid."

"The winter months are hard for people on fixed incomes," said Mrs. Rojewski. "I'm sure the energy crisis has hit them the hardest — it's a really sad situation."

She praised the gas company for being "the first business in Grand Island to really see the need to help people with their budgeting problems." She hopes other utilities and business will do the same.

"It needs communication," she said. "We have the staff to do it, where maybe they don't." The program serves not as a collection agency but as an advocacy service for the low-income, she said.

Plastic On Windows

Another aspect of the action agency's energy program is the taping of plastic over the windows of those who don't have storm windows, or can't do it themselves. "There are just so many homes in northeast Grand Island that are so poorly constructed," she said.

"The program we're real excited about is what we call Operation Car Pool," said Mrs. Rojewski. Executive secretary Connie Bastron has been contacting towns that have started citywide car pools, including Omaha.

A separate phone line at agency headquarters, manned by an Operation Mainstream work-trainee, will link riders with drivers — even for out-of-town business trips. The agency also hopes to develop company car pools, Ms. Bastron said.

"We don't see it as being a boom overnight," said Mrs. Rojewski, speculating that people committed enough to get involved now will likely stay with the program for a long time.

Car-Truck Crash Fatal To Gratton

A 19-year-old University of Nebraska-Lincoln student died Monday as a result of injuries suffered early Saturday morning in a car and semitrailer truck collision at 40th & Hwy. 2 which had previously claimed one life.

Gratton was a sophomore in the College of Business Administration and a member of Chi Phi fraternity.

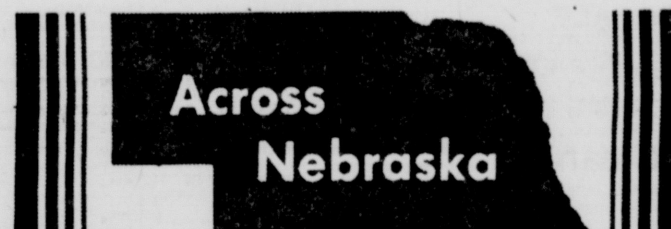

Gratton was the driver of the car, in which a passenger, Deborah Ballard, 20, Gothenburg, was killed. Funeral services for Miss Ballard, a UNL sophomore, will be at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the First United Methodist Church, Gothenburg.

Another passenger injured in the accident, Samuel Perry Jr. of Omaha, remained in intensive care Monday night at Bryan Memorial Hospital. Peery, about 19, resides at Harper Hall on the UNL campus.

The Gratton car was northbound on 40th at the time of the collision with the westbound truck. Paul Lowell, 26, Grand Island, driver of the truck, was uninjured. Damage to the truck was estimated at $2,000.

IF YOU'VE EVER LOST MONEY IN THE MARKET, TAKE STOCK OF SILVER.

Today many investors are leaving the stock market — yes, taking their losses — and buying silver. (In fact, most of Continental Silver Corporation's agents are former stock-brokers.)

Take a few minutes to find out why.

Unlike stocks and paper money, silver has intrinsic value. Real value. (That's why a real silver quarter is worth almost double its face value today.) Silver is used in film, electronics, batteries, televisions, mirrors and medicines. And industrial demand is rising faster than silver production. Reserves are nearly exhausted. All these signs tell us that silver's price is heading up. Silver should prove an excellent long-term investment, if you buy now.

Get in on this opportunity. Call or write Continental Silver Corporation today. In just a few minutes we can show you how to build security with silver. Invest in something solid... Silver.

Marvel Completes Raps Gov. Exon's Record

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings Monday accused Gov. J. James Exon of misrepresenting what he said has been "a record of callous disregard for Nebraska's taxpayers."

Marvel, who completed his filing as a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, said he is "willing to campaign on the record of the Exon administration."

That record, Marvel maintained, is "an astonishing record" of supporting tax increases and opposing tax decreases.

Morrison Says Age Advantage

Former Gov. Frank B. Morrison said Monday he hopes to hold the cost of his campaign for attorney general to $10,000.

Shortly after filing with the secretary of state's office, Morrison, a 68-year-old Democrat now serving as Omaha's public defender, said he will not accept any contributions over $100 from individuals.

Morrison said his years as a county attorney in Frontier County and as public defender have given him experience on both sides of the legal fence.

"My age is a decided advantage in this race," he said. "There is no way to accumulate such a wide variety of experience without my age."

Morrison said he will put more emphasis on consumer affairs if elected but is opposed to an "expanding bureaucracy" to handle it.

The personal income tax rate was 10% when Exon took the oath of office in 1971, Marvel said.

Since that time, he said, the governor supported an increase to 13% in November of 1971 and from 13% to 15% in December of 1971.

Exon "fought a reduction" to 13% in May of 1973, Marvel said, and "fought another reduction" to 11% in November of 1973.

"And only last week he attempted to raise the income tax rate from 11% to 13%," Marvel said.

The Legislature last week killed a bill, supported by Exon, which would have restored the tax rate to the 13% level of last year. Marvel led the battle to scuttle the measure.

Marvel said he is seeking the governorship "because of the inadequacy" of the Exon record as governor.

"... there has been a real lack of planning and accountability during Exon's tenure," the senator said.

"Take highway construction and improvement for an example."

"When 215 of the last 570 miles let out on bid were not on the current plan, when 37% of the state's road work is done on an emergency basis, it is hard to believe that Exon has brought a 'business-like approach to state government.'"

But "that claim is not as incredible as Exon's contention that he has held down state income tax rates," Marvel said.

"When we see that Exon has confused the true picture on both his record of leadership and his record on taxation rates, one cannot help but wonder if he is also less than candid concerning his plans to run for the Senate in 1976.

"I pledge to the citizens of Nebraska that, if elected, I will serve a full four years as governor and not use the position as a stepping stone to another elective office."

Gustavson Memorial Service Set

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — Memorial services will be held Saturday in Boulder, Colo., for Dr. Reuben Gustavson, former president of the University of Colorado, and his wife, Edna Marie.

Mrs. Gustavson died here Sunday after an eight-year illness. She became critically ill shortly before her death. Her husband died Feb. 23.

The services for the couple will be at 11 a.m. Saturday in St. Aiden Episcopal Church, it was announced Monday.

The couple requested cremation with the ashes to be scattered in the mountains surrounding the Boulder area.

Dr. Gustavson, an internationally respected chemist, served as chancellor of the University of Nebraska from 1947 to 1953.

The couple is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Robert H. Wheeler of Bartlesville, a son, Dr. Russell G. Gustavson of Portland, Ore.; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Ex-Sen. Harsh Plans To Run For PSC Seat

Former State Sen. Lester Harsh of McCook Monday announced his candidacy for the Fifth District Republican nomination for the Nebraska Public Service Commission.

In a brief statement, Harsh criticized three members of the commission for taking a three-day trip paid for by the United Telephone Company, which included a stopover at Disney World in Florida.

That, he said, was "a conflict of interest and is likely to influence future decisions that have to be made."

"Should there be need of such a trip for informational purposes," he said, "it should be paid for by the State of Nebraska or out of their own salaries so that there would never be a conflict of interest."

Harsh noted that the incumbent Fifth District commissioner, John Swanson of Eustis, was one of the participants on the trip.

Swanson and State Treasurer Wayne Swanson are also candidates for the Fifth District post.

Harsh served in the Legislature from 1965 to 1971.

Nichol To Seek Carpenter Seat

Scottsbluff (AP) — Bill Nichol, chairman of the Scotts Bluff County Board, announced Monday he would file for nomination to the state legislature from the 48th District.

The seat is currently held by Sen. Terry Carpenter who has announced he will seek the Democratic nomination as lieutenant governor.

Nichol's announcement places him in contention with Robert Cox, a Scottsbluff businessman who announced for the office earlier.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

"SHE'S THE ONLY WOMAN I KNOW OF WHO CAN MAKE A POUND CAKE THAT WEIGHS A TON."
